

TWO CONVICTS ESCAPE: THIRD SHOT

COMMISSION, JUDGE RACES CLAIM CHIEF INTEREST OF VOTERS

Tuesday Election Has Mostly Local Issues

Election of three City Commissioners from a field of six nominated at the August primary and a contest between two attorneys, one a Republican and one a Democrat, for the judgeship of Xenia's new municipal court, created by an act of the last legislature, furnishes the major interest attached to the general election Tuesday for Xenia voters.

City Commission candidates included: D. W. Cherry, furniture dealer, serving an appointive term on the commission and seeking his first elective term of office; Karl R. Babb, present mayor of Xenia, seeking reelection for a second term as commissioner; Dr. F. M. Chambliss, county coroner; H. L. Binder, theater owner and first president of the Xenia Retail Merchants' Association; Dr. John A. Yoder, osteopath; and Harry Fisher, railroad engineer and former commissioner.

Three vacancies are to be filled by expiration of terms of Cherry, Babb and S. M. McKay. McKay is not a candidate for reelection. E. E. Lightner and Jacob Kany, the other two members of commission, have two more years to serve.

Attorneys E. Dawson Smith and James P. Kyle are the rival candidates for judge of the new municipal court, which replaces the present mayor's court and the two Xenia Twp. justice of the peace courts. The court starts to function next January 1. Attorney Smith served as judge of the old Xenia police court during the eight years of its existence and until it was abolished as unconstitutional because the judge was appointed and not elected.

Xenians and Greene Countians will also vote on the continuance of the present two-mill county road levy for the next five years, the levy being for the purpose of paying the county's proportion of the cost of maintenance and repair of county and township roads and bridges. Roads in the state highway system are not included.

Local voters will also have a chance to express their approval or disapproval of the present uniform system of taxation which obtains in Ohio by voting for or against the proposed tax limit amendment to the constitution, a state-wide proposition.

A contest also exists for the Xenia Twp. Board of Education and with three vacancies to be filled, the field of candidates numbers six. Harry Hagler and Frank Weaver, whose terms expire, are seeking reelection. The term of C. E. Bone also expires but he is not a candidate for reelection.

The contention in this race is furnished by Frank A. Wolf, Della T. Harner, Edna C. Bull and James B. Harner.

There will be no contests for the Xenia City or Greene County Boards of Education or Xenia Twp. trustees.

Four bond issues totalling $238,120 will be voted upon outside Xenia. Beaver Creek Twp. School District voters will pass upon a proposed $155,000 issue to erect a new consolidated high school building with the ultimatum from the state educational department that the school's charter will be taken away if better facilities for a high school education are not provided in the township.

COURT MUST DECIDE IF HUMANE MURDER DESERVES PENALTY

Matricide Defense Based On Claim Of Humanity

DRAGUIGNAN, Var, France, Nov. 4.—The question of whether man has the right to kill in order to put a fellow-human out of the misery of illness confronted the court in this little mountain town today.

The defendant in the case, charged with murder in the first degree, is Richard Corbett, 30-year-old Englishman of culture and refinement.

The victim was his mother, whose three years of suffering from cancer was suddenly and dramatically ended on May 9 at Hyeres, when Corbett kissed her forehead and fired. She died instantly.

Corbett was arrested and immediately confessed, telling the police he did not care what they did to him, as he was satisfied that he had taken a righteous course in putting his mother out of her misery.

Widowed for ten years, Mrs. Corbett was stricken three years ago, and her illness was diagnosed as cancer. Her case was an aggravated one, and after a period of time, even continual injection of opiates failed to lessen her pain.

While not asking mercy, Corbett claims that his was the only humane course in the circumstances.

There have been several instances of murder to alleviate suffering in France in the last few years, and at no time has a verdict of guilty been returned. It is understood, however, that the prosecution is determined to convict this time, and will base its attack against Corbett on the grounds that no illness is absolutely incurable.

The little courtroom was jammed to capacity when the trial opened at 10 a. m. Hundreds of persons, many of them English and American tourists who had come up from Hyeres and Cannes in the hope of witnessing the trial, were refused admittance.

Corbett, attired in a well-fitting light grey suit, was brought into the courtroom in custody of two gendarmes. He betrayed no nervousness whatever.

The defense opened with the testimony of a number of witnesses who told of Corbett's profound love for his mother, refuting any implications that he had other than humanitarian motives for the murder.

Physicians who had treated Mrs. Corbett testified that she was in the last stages of malignant cancer, and that for months preceding her death she had suffered agonies.

A verdict is expected tonight.

ROSCOE McCULLOCH SLATED TO SUCCEED TO SENATE VACANCY

Report Thompson Eliminated; Cooper In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canton, member of the state utility commission and former congressman, was singled out by political observers here today as the likely choice to fill the senatorial vacancy left by the death of Senator Theodore E. Burton.

Gov. Myers V. Cooper, who came here to dedicate the new Cleveland Hungarian Young Men's and Ladies' Society building, declined to comment upon newspaper deductions, but it was learned from sources close to the governor that Col. Carmi A. Thompson, Cleveland's favorite protégé for the appointment, has been virtually eliminated, leaving the post open for McCulloch.

Gov. Cooper expressed interest in the "newspaper deductions," which have narrowed the field down to Thompson and McCulloch. "Wasn't Frederickson (Charles R. Frederickson of Coshocton) included?" he queried.

It is generally believed, however, that McCulloch will be appointed, with Frederickson a possibility if, at the last minute, McCulloch is rejected.

FIGHT OVER GIRL
RESULTS IN MURDER

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Roy Brown, 28, colored, is in jail here today after a fight in which he participated had resulted in the death of Emmet Wilson, 47, also colored.

The quarrel which began over a girl was staged in a poolroom. The drama was quickly ended when Brown shot Wilson twice in the abdomen.

An investigation is to be made of the incident by police today.

POLICE PROBE KIDNAPING

Inclined To Scout Story Of Norwalk. Man Released By Bandits Here

POLICE are investigating a story told by R. C. Burrer, Norwalk, O., insurance agent, at Police Headquarters Saturday night of how he was "taken for a ride" by two bandits, who robbed him of $37 and at the point of a gun forced him to drive them over the western part of the state for two days and a night.

Burrer said he was accosted by the two strangers on a country road about fifteen miles from Norwalk Friday morning, that he was relieved of a pocketbook containing $37, but that he managed, unseen by the bandits, to hide another purse containing nearly $100 in a pocket of his sedan.

Then he was kidnapped by the pair and the long ride began, terminating in Xenia Saturday night, according to Burrer. His companions left the car on W. Main St., just west of the Pennsylvania crossing after giving him $2 with which to buy gasoline for the trip back home. They told him to "keep on going," he said.

Burrer said the two men, after leaving his car, got into a waiting machine and were driven away rapidly. After a long distance telephone conversation with relatives at his home, Burrer left to drive back to Norwalk.

During the ride of a day and a half, Burrer told H. L. Karch, desk sergeant at Police Headquarters, that part of the time he was relieved at the wheel by one of his companions and that on these occasions he was tied hand and foot to prevent his escape. To prove this part of his story he exhibited red marks on his wrists.

When they passed through cities the two strangers hid in the bottom of the car most of the time, Burrer said, leaving the car occasionally to buy food which was taken along in the auto. They all slept in the car Friday night, he said.

Burrer said he was an agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in Norwalk. He was able to furnish police with a description of his captors, declaring one man had a scar on his face and conducted police on a fruitless search for the auto in which the men escaped before he left for Norwalk.

STOCK PRICES DROP SHARPLY AT MONDAY MORNING OPENING

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Stock prices dropped sharply at the "surprise" opening of the market. After its three-day suspension today the opening was heavy, with blocks of 10,000 to 50,000 shares changing hands on the first sales of the day.

Columbia Gas led the downward move of the utilities, and sold off 1 3/4 points at 11 5/8 at 81. Foreign Power lost 1 1/2 at 150; Radio down 8 points at 42 for 50,000 shares.

Fox Film A opened at 71 1/2; Steel was down 8 1/4 at 185; American Can down 5 3/4 at 130; Pennsylvania Railroad down 5 3/4 at 89.

General Electric down 1 at 42 1/2; International Tel. and Tel. down 1 1/2 at 35 1/2; Union Carbide down 3 1/2 at 88; Public Service of New Jersey down 1 1/2 at 80.

The New York Stock Exchange will close at 1 o'clock Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and will be closed all day Saturday. This announcement was made by the board of governors just before the opening market today. There will be no session of the exchange tomorrow—election day.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Higher prices were quoted for American stocks on the London Exchange today. U. S. Steel sold at 197 1/2; Radio at 55; Columbia Graphophone 31 1/2; Canadian Pacific at 221; and International Nickel 44.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—Stocks opened fractionally higher on the Cleveland exchange today and the market was somewhat firmer as compared with Thursday's close. Trading at the opening was exceptionally active, which according to exchange officials, was the result of a three-day accumulation of orders.

MURDER SCENTED IN DEATH OF PAINTER

DOVER, O., Nov. 4.—Casting aside the theory of an auto accident, police and county authorities are working on a murder angle in connection with the finding of the body of Albert J. Bates, 61, a Strasburg, O., painter, lying along the highway outside of this city Sunday.

The finding of wounds on the chest lead authorities to believe that they were inflicted by a dagger, according to Sheriff Harry C. Smith, and Coroner J. F. Lewis.

Two companions of the dead man were questioned this morning but they asserted they left him in front of a residence in the colored section of Dover. His subsequent movements are unknown.

There was no money found in his pockets and his watch and chain were missing.

In addition to the slashes on the victim's chest, his skull was crushed. The left side of his face was slashed and his jaws were broken. A deep puncture wound was found in his right knee.

TAMMANY PREDICTS 550,000 PLURALITY FOR JIMMY WALKER

Hot Mayoralty Race
Marked By Personal Charges

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—With the booming of heavy political guns and last minute warnings of "double crossing" and "diabolical plots," the mayoralty campaign in New York City drew to a discordant close today.

Tomorrow the voters go to the polls and settle the question: "Will Mayor James J. Walker be re-elected?" Tammany, which is backing the debonair "Jimmy," says "Yes, by 550,000 plurality."

Opposed to Walker in the mayoralty battle are:

Fiorillo H. La Guardia, Republican-Fusion.

Richard E. Enright, Square Deal party candidate.

Norman Thomas, Socialist.

The Republican-Fusion managers claim victory for La Guardia by 200,000 votes. Enright, former police commissioner, has made no predictions as to the outcome.

Thomas' manager declares the Socialist candidate will receive at least 20 per cent of the total vote or between 200,000 and 250,000 votes. He said Thomas would run ahead of La Guardia by 50,000 or 100,000 votes.

Betting odds on Walker lengthened from 10 to 1 to 15 to 1 in the last two days. New York City is normally Democratic. "Jimmy" is personally popular, has the support of the powerful Tammany organization and has been helped from the political platform by the personal appearance of former Governor "Al" Smith.

The campaign is closing with a bang after a dull interlude. The Republicans today let it be known they are preparing for a Tammany "reign of terror" at the polls tomorrow. They profess to anticipate "strong-arm tactics" to prevent "bolters" from voting for La Guardia. On the other hand, Walker hints at a "diabolical plot." He fears the Republicans are going to "spring at the last minute—'too late to answer.'"

La Guardia and Enright have been lambasting the mayor for weeks, particularly for failure of the Walker administration to solve the murder of Arnold Rothstein, the gambler who was mysteriously shot in a hotel here a year ago tonight. Many sinister charges were made in this connection.

Thomas, meanwhile, conducted his campaign on a high plane, avoiding personalities.

Mayor Walker maintained a dignified and scornful silence in the face of these allegations until recently. His opponents brought him rushing pell mell into the political ring when they accused him of being a Broadway "playboy." This charge the mayor indignantly refuted, asserting he had been in night clubs only three times in the last few years. He also took umbrage at statements that he was a "clothes dummy." The dressy young man retorted he would risk himself up in overalls if he thought he could better serve his constituents.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Three Boston mayoralty candidates today went down the "home stretch" toward election day tomorrow.

All were confident of victory. Supporters of ex-Mayor James M. Curley said he would carry every one of the twenty-two wards and would win by close to 70,000 votes.

Frederick W. Mansfield, president of the Massachusetts Bar Association, expressed his confidence in victory as did ex-District Attorney Daniel H. Coakley.

EXPECT SMALL VOTE ON TAX AMENDMENT

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—That a relatively light vote will be cast throughout Ohio tomorrow, on the proposed tax classification amendment to the Ohio constitution, is the forecast of exchange officials here today by state election officials.

A majority vote will insure adoption of the proposal.

If adopted, the amendment will abolish the uniform rule of taxation, as now applicable to both tangible and intangible property, and will substitute a modified form of classification of property for taxation purposes, with a 15-mill limitation on real estate.

While the taxation proposal is the only statewide issue confronting Ohio voters at this year's election, proposed bond and local tax issues will be disposed of in various localities throughout the state. Local officials will be elected in ninety-two Ohio cities, 750 villages, 1,300 townships and 2,000 school districts. Local officers to be elected include council men, school board members, municipal judges, city auditor and city attorney, or law director.

NAVAL OFFICER WHO DISAPPEARED LAST OCTOBER 22 FOUND

Surrenders After Fleeing
With Cash And Woman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The mysterious disappearance of Lieut. Harold W. Northcutt from his station at Portsmouth, Va., since Oct. 22, was partially cleared today when he was located at the Bremerton, Wash., navy yard. He was first believed to have been kidnapped or slain for $250 which he had collected for the University of Virginia.

According to advices received by the navy department, he surrendered to the authorities at Vancouver, B. C., and was then brought to the Bremerton yard, where he is being detained pending investigation.

Investigation by department of justice agents revealed Northcutt disappeared with a woman from Canada or had gone there to meet her. Letters showed that the young naval officer had been urged by the woman to leave his wife and family and marry her.

The lieutenant's wife and child are with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bryant here. Bryant, a Washington newspaper man, said he knew of no reason for Northcutt's action.

"Nothing ever surprised me or my family more," he said, "Lieutenant Northcutt did not drink, was devoted to his wife and little boy, and did not owe any debt he could not have paid."

FALSE ARREST MADE DAMAGE SUIT BASIS

Alleged "unjust" detention of two Xenia colored youths in the detention home at Indianapolis, Ind., for several hours October 18 on suspicion of officials of the Indianapolis Colored Y. M. C. A. that the pair stole merchandise from several rooms, is the basis of two damage suits for $5,000 each, filed in the Marion County court at Indianapolis, October 22 by Robert Crowley and George R. Garrett, both of Xenia. Both youths were subsequently cleared by police of the larceny charges and were released it is claimed. The actions were filed against the Y. M. C. A. officials.

POLICEMAN CLAIMS
VICE IS PROTECTED

CANTON, O., Nov. 4.—Another match was touched to Canton's political bonfire here today with the allegations of Patrolman Merritt C. Jacobs, who, speaking before a Democratic rally, declared vice is "protected" in Canton.

"Police are unable to control vice conditions because their hands are tied," Jacobs alleged. He claimed that the "higher-ups" of the city administration "protected" the underworld.

Although Jacobs was still on police duty today, it was expected he would be suspended.

OHIO PRISON GUARD SLUGGED WHEN TRIO STAGES JAIL BREAK

Convicted Slayer Perhaps Fatally Wounded By Guard

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Two convicts drilled, slugged and shot their way to freedom from the Ohio State Penitentiary here early today. A third convict, Findlay, Ohio's famous "milk-bottle" slayer, was so seriously wounded that he is expected to die.

Arthur Brooker, 23, who is serving a life-term for murder, is the wounded convict. He succeeded in getting to a railroad right-of-way, about 100 yards from the bastille, where he was found suffering from loss of blood, about four hours after his escape.

The men had smuggled three drills, a brace, and two heavy pieces of steel from the machine shop. They drilled through the top of a cell-block, which heretofore had been regarded as "escape proof."

They made no attempt to conceal their actions. When they gained the top of the cell-block, they threw a large piece of stone down into the streets outside the wall. It hit a street light and broke it.

Guard J. R. Montgomery rushed from his position at a corner tower and he was slugged, the men using a heavy piece of steel. In the fight which ensued on top of the wide prison walls and in the glare of huge searchlights, Brooker was hit by a .38 calibre "dum-dum" bullet.

The men had grabbed the shotgun of Guard Montgomery and exchanged shots with two guards, whose posts were on the ground inside the walls.

Montgomery was beaten into unconsciousness.

AUTOISTS BEWARE OF OLD PERRY

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Nov. 4.—Distance lends enchantment and in the case of some motorists, safety. But that's out now in Perry County.

Following a hectic three months of accidents which included numerous tragic deaths due to careless, indifferent and drunken drivers, Sheriff Clifford Wilson has issued a warning to motorists that he is now following in the footsteps of the Northwest Mounted Police, who, as is probably known, "always get their man."

Sheriff Wilson's new idea is to mail his summons to those who have violated the law—if the officer gets the number—if the violator lives a thousand miles away. And get them personally if they live close by and tell them where they are to go—and for what they are appearing. So the moral of this story is be careful where and how you go in Perry County.

SCHOOL SHOWS PROGRESS

Sugarcreek Twp. System Now In Front Rank Of County Schools Is Shown

SUGARCREEK TWP. SCHOOL

RAY S. BLACKBURN

PROGRESS in the Sugarcreek Twp. Consolidated School at Bellbrook in the last two years has brought that school to an enviable position in the limelight of schools in Greene County, educators here declare.

Judicious application of the state school aid fund by the school administration has been responsible for bringing this condition about, it is said. The school has been spending $6,000 of state aid annually for the last two years, and the extra sum has permitted an expansion of program that has considerably raised the standards of that school.

The school was built four years ago, and during the last two years two new rooms have been added, making it one of the handsomest and most commodious buildings now in the county school system. The addition made the building a fifteen-room school, permitted an increase of staff from eight to twelve and allowed for a decrease in children per room from sixty-five to thirty-five, relieving congested conditions.

Other improvements which have been effected by the increase in school funds, include the installation of electric lights, new window blinds and new paint; the reorganization of the physical education department and a music department, which furnishes music books; construction and equipment of three tennis and three volleyball courts; supplying new uniforms for two basketball teams; reorganization of the high school on the "six-six" plan so that seventh and eighth graders receive instruction from high school teachers; purchase of several hundred dollars worth of books for the library; installation of $300 worth of lockers; purchase of a $300 picture projection machine; purchase of $300 worth of power machinery and tools for the manual training department; purchase of $120 worth of drawing equipment; purchase of three sets of readers for each grade at a total cost of $1,000; purchase of $500 worth of science equipment; purchase of $400 worth of sewing machines and home economics department equipment; purchase of $1,000 worth of typewriters and stenographic equipment for the commercial department.

The two room addition to the building is valued at $4,500. It is said. Reorganization of the department of physical education has enabled the school to bring two county basketball championships there in the last two years. The board of education, the Welfare Club and the community at large have co-operated in the improvements, it is pointed out.

The board is composed of Joseph White, Samuel O. Miller, Frank A. Wright, John Turner and Lampton Smith. White, Miller and Wright, who is also clerk of the board, are candidates for re-election Tuesday. Ray S. Blackburn is superintendent of the school and Frank Multhrup, who has held the position thirty-two years, is janitor. The enrollment is approximately 350.

CONDUCT PROBE

It had a stage setting. The huge searchlights which light up the walls were playing on the guard and men as they struggled atop the walls.

Warden P. E. Thomas, whose residence is in the penitentiary, was awakened by the shot and subsequent alarm. He was on the scene in a few minutes and directed the search which was immediately begun.

A riot call was sent in to local police and every road leading from the city is under guard. Railroads have been notified and their detectives are on the lookout.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The World And All

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

MONTREAL AND BACK

This is written early in the morning, after returning to New York from a three days trip to Montreal, Canada, with my wife. I have always enjoyed arriving in New York early in the morning, eating breakfast in Grand Central terminal, and walking through the streets where the day's life is just beginning to awaken.

The mists of dawn are clearing from the tall towers of Manhattan. The early workers are silent and a bit sleepy-eyed. Riveting guns are hammering away in some of the steel skeletons that rise to right and left. They hammer all night, I suppose. The traffic policemen are at their posts, just as they are later in the day, but they are not very busy now. I find charwomen still at work in my cubbyhole in Times Square.

Yes, it was a jolly week end, and I like Montreal even better than I have liked it heretofore. It is growing rapidly, and its growth is orderly and beautiful. Its new business buildings are of sandstone, chiefly, and good to look at. Montreal has gone in for skyscraping in recent years. The Bell Telephone building is nineteen stories high, well designed, and here permit me to say that the telephone companies almost everywhere are benefactors to their communities because they build well and beautifully.

There is a new bank building a little larger than the telephone building, and there are half a dozen big buildings of steel and stone nearing completion. In Montreal, the town is alive. The great rush of American tourists is over for the year, although there is no more delightful season in Canada than late autumn.

Our one adventure came at the finish. We took a taxi fourteen minutes before train time, and hadn't learned from what station our train departed. We thought the taxi driver would know. That's a violent presumption, and anyone should know better.

We told the driver what train and what railroad, and then he drove us to the wrong station. It was five minutes of train time as we started to disembark at Bonaventure station, and were informed that our train leaves from Windsor station.

I roared at the driver, abusing him roundly in my excitement. I've been accustomed to New York taxi drivers, whom you can't annoy by any kind of loud conversation. This young man was different. He was French, excitable, and young. He went wild. He stepped on the gas, took corners on one wheel, narrowly missed pedestrians, and shot past traffic cops who tried to stop him. He pulled up at Windsor station with the front wheels grazing a policeman on the sidewalks. The officer drew his pistol and held the driver, who was speechless with fright. I interceded for the culprit and offered to take the blame, shoved a good tip into the driver's trembling hand, and raced for the train. Yes, we made it.

GRAIN THE BASE IN POULTRY RATION

Grain, especially corn, which is Ohio's cheapest and most common cereal, should be the base upon which a grain and mash ration for poultry is arranged, according to C. M. Ferguson, extension specialist in poultry husbandry for the Ohio State University here.

Ferguson points out that the grain is the principal home grown component of the ration, and therefore the cheapest, and the element which should regulate the composition of the mash. Wheat, when the price is not prohibitive, is next in desirability to corn. "Oats, barley, buckwheat and other coarse cereals should not make up more than 30 per cent of the scratch feed," says Ferguson.

The specialists recommend the feeding of grain twice a day—early morning and late afternoon, either in a clean litter or in troughs. As a general rule the chickens should receive as much grain as mash. The common practice is to feed grain lightly in the morning and to give the chickens all they can eat in the evening.

"Heavy grain feeding to pullets in the late fall and early winter has been found advisable in order to maintain body weight as egg production commences," says Ferguson.

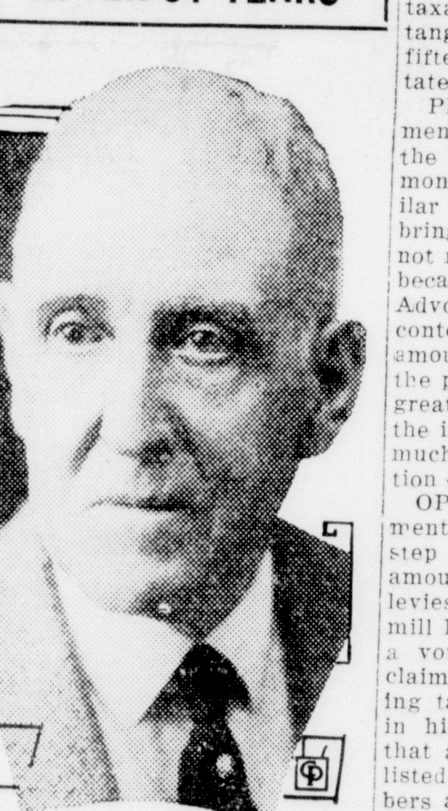

WHAT IS TAX AMENDMENT? BOTH SIDES PRESENTED HERE

Only one state-wide issue, that of the proposed tax classification amendment, will claim the attention of Greene County voters when they visit the polls Tuesday.

In the last forty years the question of doing away with the present uniform rule of taxation has come before the voters ten times and was defeated each time. It received a majority of the votes cast on the issue five times, but not a majority of all votes cast at the elections.

This time, however, only a majority of votes on the proposal itself will be necessary for it to carry. If passed, the amendment will abolish the uniform rule of taxation on both tangible and intangible property, and will place a fifteen-mill limitation on real estate.

FORCED FROM JOB AFTER 61 YEARS

JIM KELLY

OTTAWA, Ill., Nov. 7.—Jim Kelly has been pushed out of a job he held for sixty-one years. The pushing process was not due to the age of Jim Kelly. It was due to the fact that wreckers began tearing down the building in which he served.

In August, 1868, a new hotel was opened in Ottawa with a great flare of trumpets. Jim Kelly strayed away from his home nearby to see what it was all about and was put to work as a bell boy. Later he became night clerk. Still later he became day clerk. He wore out the building which today is in the hands of wreckers, while he remains as good as new.

One year from now there will be a new fireproof hotel on the site of the old, and after a year's vacation Jim Kelly will return to his job as day clerk.

The present enforced vacation is Kelly's second in a lifetime. Twenty years ago, when L. M. Harvey became the fifth owner of the hotel in forty years, he forced Kelly to take two weeks off.

When Kelly returned to the job a newspaper writer asked him where he had spent his vacation.

"In Davenport," said Kelly.

"Resort or relatives?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, I just stayed at a hotel, went to the circus one day and to the baseball games," said the reporter.

"I know, I know," said Kelly. "But to be a success at anything you must have experience, and that was my first vacation. I'll try and do better next time."

BINGHAM PLEADS HIS OWN DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—In an effort to stall off an official rebuke from the senate, Senator Hiram Bingham (R.) of Connecticut, made an impassioned defense on the floor of the senate today of his employment of a paid lobbyist to aid in writing the new tariff bill.

He admitted he may have made an error in judgment but he pleaded he had done nothing immoral, unethical or dishonorable.

He pleaded "not guilty" to all three charges carried in the Norris resolution—that his action was contrary to good morals, contrary to senatorial ethics and tending to bring the senate into dishonor and disrepute. Bingham again insisted he had done nothing wrong but perhaps had been guilty of being "indiscreet and over zealous."

Dorothy, aged 4, was taken from her bed early one morning, assaulted and strangled to death and her body was thrown on the front porch of her grandparents' home. Stanley Hoppe, 27, a relative, was convicted of the murder and he was electrocuted in the Ohio State Penitentiary October 26, 1928.

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR CONVICTS HERE

Pennsylvania Railroad officials co-operating with city police kept a sharp watch Monday morning for two convicts who scaled a wall at Ohio State Penitentiary and escaped early in the morning.

Assisted by Patrolmen Charles Thompson, J. E. Craig and George Robinson, Fred O. Lienceur, railroad detective, searched two freight trains from Columbus which passed through Xenia several hours after the prison break, but two suspects captured proved to be only vagrants "bumming" a ride. They were released.

A passenger train bound from Columbus to Cincinnati which does not ordinarily stop at Xenia, was also searched thoroughly by Detective Lienceur but without success. Word of the escape of the two prisoners was received by Sheriff Ohmer Tate at 4 a. m. Monday from penitentiary officials.

FACES CHARGE HERE

Arrested at Zimmerman Saturday night and brought to Xenia, Clarence Briley, 27, Dayton, is being held at the County Jail pending arraignment before Probate Judge S. C. Wright Monday on a charge of intoxication, according to Sheriff Ohmer Tate.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—The powers and duties of the state director of aeronautics, relative to the creation of a division of air-marking in the director's department, are defined in an opinion which was given by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman to Attorney John M. Vorys, Columbus, director of aeronautics.

Holding that the director is empowered to set up such a division in his department, the attorney general ruled that the director possesses legal authority to require air-marking to be performed and maintained in cases where a municipality fails to provide markers or, providing such markers, neglects to maintain them.

In such instances, the cost is to be charged to the municipality, such cost not to exceed $25 for each municipality, and collected by the state department of aeronautics. This money, however, must be turned by the director into the state treasury. It cannot be used for compensating a chief of a division of air-marking, Bettman held.

The attorney general also ruled that the contracts for painting markers in municipalities, where the local authorities failed to take proper action, should be let by competitive bidding, unless the state controlling board authorizes that the work be arranged for in some other manner.

Only a doctor knows what a laxative should be

YOU don't want to use a laxative every day. Nor once a week. This should not be necessary. And it never would be required if all of us would learn the danger that lies in a careless selection of laxatives.

By taking the first thing that comes to mind when bad breath, headaches, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, gas on stomach and bowels, poor appetite, or lack of energy warns us that our bowels are sluggish, we risk forming the laxative habit.

Rely on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Here's one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach trouble. Its originator tried it in many thousands of cases. He found it safe for women, children and old folks; thoroughly effective for the most robust man. There were so many calls for this prescription and its fame spread so rapidly that druggists began to fill it in quantities; kept it ready for calls. Now Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is prepared from the freshest herbs and other pure ingredients under ideal conditions. You can get the generous bottles of it from drug stores in any part of the world.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a real corrective of constipation. Millions have proved this. That's why it is today the world's most popular laxative!

The Theater

Consider the lilies of the stage, who toil not and neither spin, yet one of them, Miss Kathleen Mulqueen, Broadway star and former Philadelphia society girl, is $500,000 richer from playing the stock market on a "dumb" hunch.

Miss Mulqueen is 25, with blue eyes and jet black hair, and Stage-door Johnnies will find her in Louisville, Ky., where she is playing stock with the Brown Players. "I don't know how I did it," she said. "I just played a dumb hunch. I had run $15,000, my life savings, up to $65,000 in five months."

"About a week ago, I got the feeling that the market would turn so I took everything and sold short. Sure enough, stocks dropped. I said 'slide, Kelly, slide' and I got out last Tuesday just before the market climbed again. I am the world's worst business woman but I took a chance and am too amazed for adequate words. Will I go back onto Wall St? Not just now—I want to count my profits. Will I quit the stage? I should say not. I am returning to New York soon and hope to start in a Broadway production shortly."

Miss Mulqueen is an ardent baseball fan. Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, gave her her first market tip last May. She and Mack are old friends and Miss Mulqueen was voted their favorite actress by the

LILLIAN FOSTER

Athletics recently. Outside of the stock market she is a conservative gambler. She won only $25 on the World Series. In her stock market plunge she put in every cent she had in the world including a mortgage on her home in Freeport, L. I.

Lillian Foster, American actress playing in London, enters the theater's hall of fame today, by having her picture appear in this column. She is so honored because she set a new style of retort to critics who write unfavorable reviews. Meeting Hannen Swaffer, British critic, in a fashionable hotel restaurant in London, she slapped his face twice. He had spoken disparagingly regarding her voice. Critics, beware!

"Uncle Tom's Cabin", the picture version made by Carl Laemmle from the great Civil War story by Harriet Beecher Stowe, is the attraction at the Orpheum Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, and deserves special mention.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin", the most popular drama ever produced on the American stage, is a top-notch motion picture, made without sparing expense to make it true to history and fact. James B. Lowe, famous colored actor who made his name in "Emperor Jones", plays the part of Uncle Tom.

DEFENDS TAX LIMIT PROPOSAL AGAINST OPPONENT'S CLAIM

In defending the proposed tax limit amendment to Article XII of the Ohio Constitution, David C. Bradfute, secretary of the Greene County Farm Bureau, takes sharp issue with O. A. Dobbins, president of the same organization. In speaking before the Jefferson Two Farm Bureau at the home of K. M. Johnson, Friday, Mr. Bradfute said: "We defend the proposed amendment on all three of the opposition's counts. It is neither misleading, unnecessary nor unfair. "It is called a tax limit amendment because that is exactly what it is. While it is true, as has been charged, that a classification amendment has been defeated several times, yet this is the first and only time such an amendment has carried a tax limiting clause, protecting the real estate owner from excessive rates. That this amendment will permit classification we not only admit but we advance that as the chief argument in its favor. We believe that only through classification is it practically possible to relieve the present intolerable burden of taxation placed on real estate by so-called uniform rule that in its operation is neither uniform nor fair. There is certainly nothing misleading about that. "As to the necessity of the amendment; it has been abundantly proven, and is not denied, that real estate which constitutes only 30 per cent of the wealth of the state pays nearly 75 per cent of the taxes, while intangible property constituting more than 50 per cent of the wealth pays only 7 per cent of the taxes. "The only possible relief under our present uniform rule, to the owner of real estate, who now bears the double burden of taxation of the land and the fictitious taxation of the mortgage thereon, is to exempt the mortgage entirely from taxation. Thus under our present system, cursed as it is with exemptions, the only remedy which the defenders of the uniform rule have to offer is to add another exemption. "Of course any taxation of intangibles is bound to result in double taxation since nearly all intangibles are based upon, and derive their value from either real estate or other tangible property. Under the uniform rule the only possible courses open are either to fix the tax rate on these intangibles the same as that on real estate and tangible property, thus throwing a double burden on those classes of property, through increased interest rates, or else to exempt the intangible entirely, throwing the tax burden on the other two classes of property. "Now as to the fairness of classification. The supreme court of the United States has repeatedly said that classification of property for taxation is fair and just in principle and that the uniform rule can never result in fair and just taxation. "As an example of the unfairness of classification the defenders of the uniform rule point out that if the amendment is adopted, the owner of real estate will be assessed for a large amount of tax while the man with an equal investment in stocks, bonds or mortgages will be assessed for only a small amount. They utterly forget that under the system they are defending that same owner of intangibles pays practically nothing. "How anyone can first advance the argument, that mortgages, stocks, etc., should be exempt from taxation, since to tax them results in double taxation, and then claim in the same speech that all classes of property should pay the same tax, is utterly beyond my comprehension. Yet this is exactly what the supporters of the present unfair, unjust and mis-named uniform rule attempt to establish."

GOV. ROOSEVELT TO BE CANDIDATE FOR DEMIES IN 1932

ALBANY, Nov. 4.—If Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt is re-elected governor next year, his friends are convinced he will be the Democratic presidential candidate in 1932. Plans already are being made, it is said, by which former Governor Al Smith would throw whatever strength he may have in the next Democratic national convention to Governor Roosevelt. There are many who believed that former Governor Smith will be a dominant figure in the next Democratic national convention, not as a candidate but as a picker of candidates. If former Governor Smith uses his influence to secure the presidential nomination for Governor Roosevelt it will be returning only a good deed for another, in the opinion of friends of Gov. Roosevelt. Associates of the New York Executive point to the fact that for eight years, prior to the 1928 convention, Governor Roosevelt was an indefatigable worker in an effort to secure the presidential nomination for former Gov. Smith.

CONSIDER SITES FOR NEW BUILDING

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Members of the Ohio State office building commission were to meet this afternoon with Gov. Myers V. Cooper to try and decide on a site for Ohio's proposed new office building. The meeting was scheduled for 2 p. m. in the office of the chief executive and was to be private. The commission's decision is subject to the approval of the governor. If a site is decided upon, the commission's architects will begin at once to work on plans for a building suitable for the site. It will be at least two years, it is believed, before the land can be acquired and a building made ready for occupancy.

IDENTIFIES CORPSE AS SON-MISSING SON RETURNS HOME

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 4.—A son, who was believed dead, had returned to his mother today. A body was found floating in the Ohio River on March 28. It apparently had been in the river for some time. The body was placed in the Portsmouth, Ohio, morgue. It remained unidentified for several days. Reading of the instance in a paper, Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond, of Charleston, went to Portsmouth. "That is my son, John, who is 20 years of age," she said. Funeral preparations were made. Mrs. Hammond purchased two lots in the Greenlawn cemetery, one for the body of her son, and the second for herself. When she died, she said, she wished to be buried at his side. The body was buried as that of John Hammond. Mrs. Hammond mourned the death of her son. However, John Hammond walked into his mother's home here as big as life the other day. "I'm not dead," he assured her. He said he had gone away in search of work. Today, authorities are again faced with the task of identifying the river corpse.

PROPELLER DRIVEN AUTO SUCCESSFUL

HANOVER, Nov. 4.—A propeller-driven car has undergone successful tests on the railway-line Burgwell Celler near Hanover. The car looks from the outside like an armored car. It is driven by two propellers, one at the back and one at the front. The motors which drive the propellers have 250 h. p. each. The speed to be reached is to approximate that of an ordinary steam engine. The propeller-car started with passengers including several members of German Parliament and the trip proved a success. The tests are of merely theoretical nature so far, but experts believe there are great possibilities in this new propeller-car.

Needless Suffering

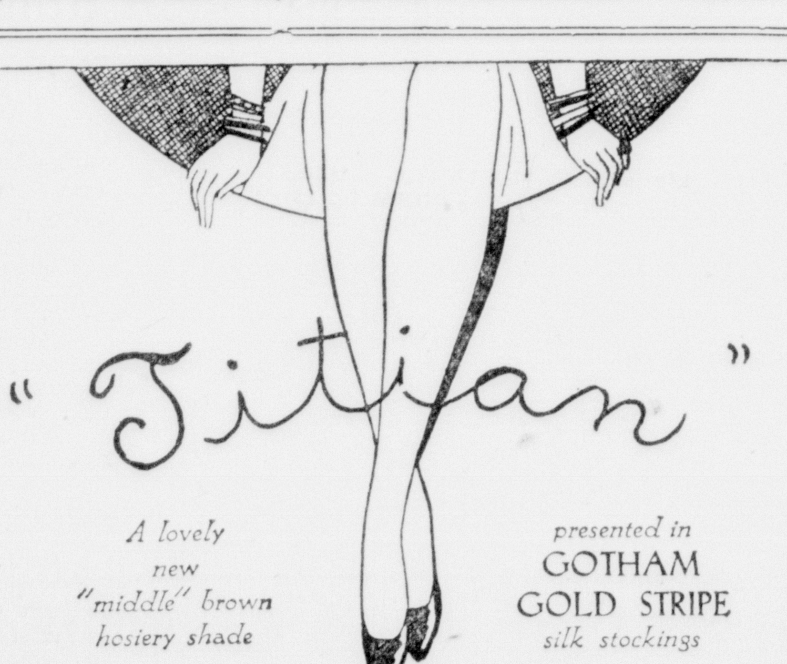

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—
Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—
Remember Bayer Aspirin! For there is scarcely any pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.
These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.
Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Bayer Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

For your own protection, buy the genuine. Bayer is safe. It's always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

SHAMROCK GROWS IN AMERICAN SOIL

LORAIN, O., Nov. 4.—Skepticism which existed as to whether the shamrock, once taken from its native soil in Ireland, could be replanted and grown in America, has been dispelled at the home of Mrs. Catherine Woodley here. Mrs. Woodley was born in County Cork, Ireland, coming to this country when she was a child. One of her childhood playmates, several years ago, mailed her a package of shamrock seed. She planted it and now the plant is quite large, and several new sprouts were observed to have popped out recently.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

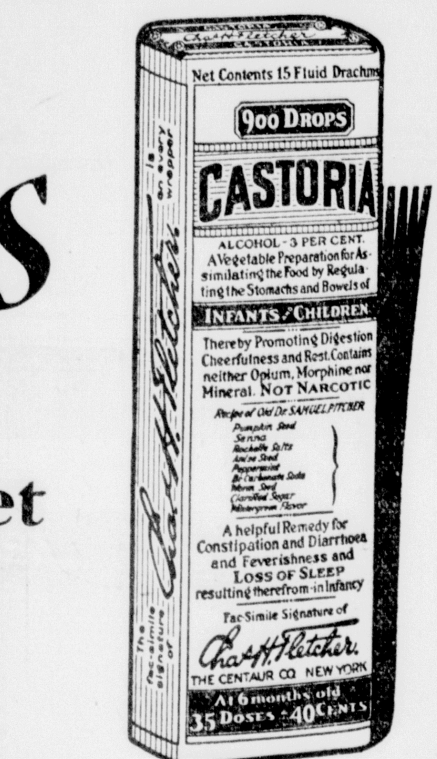

Thursday, October 24, the junior and senior Latin Club held an election of officers. Esther Bradley was elected president, Dorothy Lunsford, vice president, Betty Lorimer, secretary and Harold Bull, treasurer. These committees for the year were then appointed by the president: Program—Helen LeSourd, Virginia Watkins, Robert Kinsey; social—Alice Gordin, Lois Spahr, Minor Monroe;

Frances Bryson, Jane Harner. It was also decided to hold all future meetings the first Monday of every school month. The first real meeting was held Monday at which a few important business matters were brought up and discussed. Helen LeSourd then took charge of the program. Jane Harner told a fairy tale, "The Three Bears" and it was very well received. A short debate on "Why I am the Better Debater" was then carried on by Minor Monroe and Edwin Bath. Monroe was decided victor because of his previous experience and because he was so long winded. A duet entitled "Singing in the Rain" was the next thing on the program. It was sung by students organizing a debate team. Two meetings have already been held and a third is scheduled for Monday afternoon. Mr. Boyce so as to be able to debate against some of the schools in this district. The senior girls will hold a polar sale of the year and should go over in great style. The proceeds will go to pay for the annual.

When BABIES are upset

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them. For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

TWO CONVICTS ESCAPE: THIRD SHOT

COMMISSION, JUDGE RACES CLAIM CHIEF INTEREST OF VOTERS

Tuesday Election Has Mostly Local Issues

Election of three City Commissioners from a field of six nominated at the August primary and a contest between two attorneys, one a Republican and one a Democrat, for the judgeship of Xenia's new municipal court, created by an act of the last legislature, furnishes the major interest attached to the general election Tuesday for Xenia voters.

City Commission candidates include: D. W. Cherry, furniture dealer, serving an appointive term on the commission and seeking his first elective term of office; Karl R. Babb, present mayor of Xenia, seeking reelection for a second term as commissioner; Dr. F. M. Chambliss, county coroner; H. L. Binder, theater owner and first president of the Xenia Retail Merchants' Association; Dr. John A. Yoder, osteopath; and Harry Fisher, railroad engineer and former commissioner.

Three vacancies are to be filled by expiration of terms of Cherry, Babb and S. M. McKay. McKay is not a candidate for reelection. E. E. Lighthouse and Jacob Kany, the other two members of commission, have two more years to serve.

Attorneys E. Dawson Smith and James P. Kyle are the rival candidates for judge of the new municipal court, which replaces the present mayor's court and the two Xenia Twp. justice of the peace courts. The court starts to function next January 1. Attorney Smith served as judge of the old Xenia police court during the eight years of its existence and until it was abolished as unconstitutional because the judge was appointed and not elected.

Xenians and Greene Countyans will also vote on the continuance of the present two-mile county road levy for the next five years, the levy being for the purpose of paying the county's proportion of the cost of maintenance and repair of county and township roads and bridges. Roads in the state highway system are not included.

Local voters will also have a chance to express their approval or disapproval of the present uniform system of taxation which obtains in Ohio by voting for or against the proposed tax limit amendment to the constitution, a state-wide proposition.

A contest also exists for the Xenia Twp. Board of Education and with three vacancies to be filled, the field of candidates numbers six. Harry Hagler and Frank Weaver, whose terms expire, are seeking reelection. The term of C. E. Bone also expires but he is not a candidate for reelection. The contention in this race is furnished by Frank A. Wolf, Della T. Harner, Edna C. Bull and James B. Harner.

There will be no contests for the Xenia City or Greene County Boards of Education or Xenia Twp. trustees.

Four bond issues totalling $238,120 will be voted upon outside Xenia. Beaver Creek Twp. School District voters will pass upon a proposed $155,000 issue to erect a new consolidated high school building with the ultimatum from the state educational department that the school's charter will be taken away if better facilities for a high school education are not provided in the township.

In Caesar Creek Twp. Rural School District the voters will vote upon a $55,000 bond issue to build an addition to the present high school, but Dr. L. L. Clifton, director of the state educational department, has recommended that action on the project be suspended by the school board even if the proposal carries at the election, pending a survey of the school situation in the district to be made by the state department.

Two minor bond issues include one for $21,120 to provide Spring Valley village with adequate protection against high water and another for $7,000 to erect a fire engine house and purchase fire-fighting apparatus for Fairfield village.

ADVANCES MOTIVE FOR SNOOK CAREER

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 4.—Unrestrained love affairs in his college days twenty-five or thirty years ago were advanced as a probable influence for Dr. James Howard Snook's brutal murder of Miss Theora K. Hix, Ohio State co-ed, by Dr. Lloyd Ackerman, assistant professor of biology, in a forum talk yesterday before the Judean Club on "The Modern Sex Problem," here.

Using the case of Dr. Snook as an example, Dr. Ackerman stated that unrestrained sex relations are definite and certain in their effects on individual character.

COURT MUST DECIDE IF HUMANE MURDER DESERVES PENALTY

Matricide Defense Based On Claim Of Humanity

DRAGUIGNAN, Var, France, Nov. 4.—The question of whether man has the right to kill in order to put a fellow-human out of the misery of illness confronted the court in this little mountain town today.

The defendant in the case, charged with murder in the first degree, is Richard Corbett, 30-year-old Englishman of culture and refinement.

The victim was his mother, whose three years of suffering from cancer was suddenly and dramatically ended on May 9 at Hyeres, when Corbett kissed her, pressed his revolver against her forehead and fired. She died instantly.

Corbett was arrested and immediately confessed, telling the police he did not care what they did to him, as he was satisfied that he had taken a righteous course in putting his mother out of her misery.

Widowed for ten years, Mrs. Corbett was stricken three years ago, and her illness was diagnosed as cancer. Her case was an aggravated one, and after a period of time, even continual injection of opiates failed to lessen her pain. While not asking mercy, Corbett claims that his was the only humane course in the circumstances. There have been several instances of murder to alleviate suffering in France in the last few years, and at no time has a verdict of guilty been returned. It is understood, however, that the prosecution is determined to convict this time, and will base its attack against Corbett on the grounds that no illness is absolutely incurable.

The little courtroom was jammed to capacity when the trial opened at 10 a. m. Hundreds of persons, many of them English and American tourists who had come up from Hyeres and Cannes in the hope of witnessing the trial, were refused admittance.

Corbett, attired in a well-fitting light grey suit, was brought into the courtroom in custody of two gendarmes. He betrayed no nervousness whatever. The defense opened with the testimony of a number of witnesses who told of Corbett's profound love for his mother, refuting any implications that he had other than humanitarian motives for the murder.

Physicians who had treated Mrs. Corbett testified that she was in the last stages of malignant cancer, and that for months preceding her death she had suffered agonies.

A verdict is expected tonight.

HIT-SKIP AUTOIST HELD; VICTIM HURT

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—A would-be hit-skip driver is in the cooler, and will here today and his victim is fighting for his life in a local hospital.

James H. Beaman, 50, the injured man, was said to have been crossing the street when he was struck by an auto driven by Louis Turner, 25, colored, with such force that he was knocked into the path of an auto driven by Joe Cahill. The wheels passed over Beaman's body.

Cahill noticed that the auto which had hit the man first did not stop and immediately gave chase catching Turner, when a wheel of the colored man's auto came off. Turner will be questioned today.

FIGHT OVER GIRL RESULTS IN MURDER

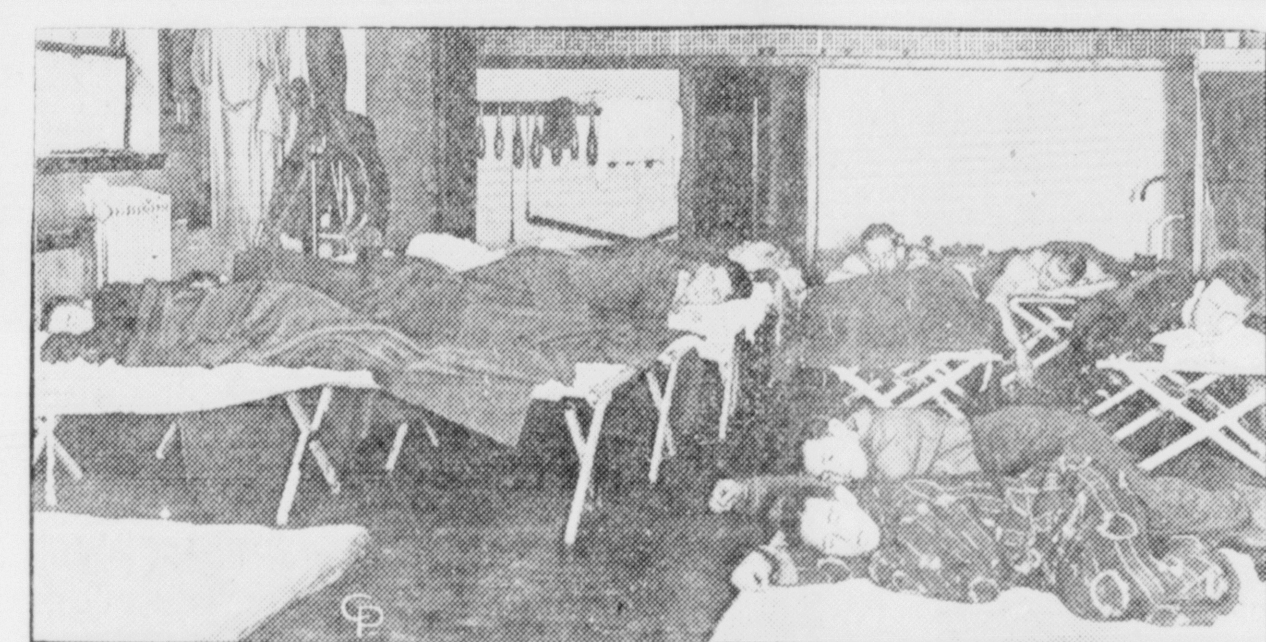

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Roy Brown, 28, colored, is in jail here today after a fight in which he participated had resulted in the death of Emmet Wilson, 47, also colored. The quarrel which began over a girl was staged in a poolroom. The drama was quickly ended when Brown shot Wilson twice in the abdomen.

An investigation is to be made of the incident by police today.

ACCUSED OF MURDER

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—Hoyt Ferguson, 36, of Cincinnati, was taken into custody by police here today in connection with the murder of Jose Pope, who was shot down in the doorway of his home here last night. The fatal shooting is believed to have grown out of a quarrel over a woman.

ROSCOE McCULLOCH SLATED TO SUCCEED TO SENATE VACANCY

Report Thompson Eliminated; Cooper In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canton, member of the state utility commission and former congressman, was singled out by political observers here today as the likely choice to fill the senatorial vacancy left by the death of Senator Theodore E. Burton.

Gov. Myers V. Cooper, who came here to dedicate the new Cleveland Hungarian Young Men's and Ladies' Society building, declined to comment upon newspaper deductions, but it was learned from sources close to the governor that Col. Carmo A. Thompson, Cleveland's favorite protegee for the appointment, has been virtually eliminated, leaving the post open for McCulloch.

Gov. Cooper expressed interest in the "newspaper deductions," which have narrowed the field down to Thompson and McCulloch. "Wasn't Frederickson (Charles R. Frederickson of Coshocton) included?" he queried.

It is generally believed, however, that McCulloch will be appointed with Frederickson a possibility if, at the last minute, McCulloch is rejected.

POLICE PROBE KIDNAPING

Inclined To Scout Story Of Norwalk. Man Released By Bandits Here

POLICE are investigating a story told by R. C. Burrer, Norwalk, O., insurance agent, at Police Headquarters Saturday night of how he was "taken for a ride" by two bandits, who robbed him of $37 and at the point of a gun forced him to drive them over the western part of the state for two days and a night.

Burrer said he was accosted by the two strangers on a country road about fifteen miles from Norwalk Friday morning, that he was relieved of a pocketbook, containing $37, but that he managed, unseen by the bandits, to hide another pin, containing nearly $100 in a pocket of his sedan.

Then he was kidnapped by the pair and the long ride began, terminating in Xenia Saturday night, according to Burrer. His companions left the car on W. Main St., just west of the Pennsylvania crossing after giving him $3 with which to buy gasoline for the trip back home. They told him to "keep on going," he said.

Burrer said the two men, after leaving his car, got into a waiting machine and were driven away rapidly. After a long distance telephone conversation with relatives at his home, Burrer left to drive back to Norwalk.

During the ride of a day and a half, Burrer told H. L. Karch, night desk sergeant at Police Headquarters, that part of the time he was relieved at the wheel by one of his companions and that on these occasions he was tied hand and foot to prevent his escape. To prove this part of his story he exhibited red marks on his wrists.

When they passed through cities the two strangers hid in the bottom of the car most of the time, Burrer said, leaving the car occasionally to buy food which was taken along in the auto. They all slept in the car Friday night, he said.

Burrer said he was an agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in Norwalk. He was able to furnish police with a description of his captors, declaring one man had a scar on his face and conducted police on a fruitless search for the auto in which the men escaped before he left for Norwalk.

STOCK PRICES DROP SHARPLY AT MONDAY MORNING OPENING

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Stock prices dropped sharply at the "surprise" opening of the market. After three-day suspension today the opening was heavy, with blocks of 10,000 to 50,000 shares changing hands on the first sales of the day.

Columbia Gas led the downward move of the utilities, and sold off 11 3/4 points at 76. American and Foreign Power lost 11 5/8 at 81. Westinghouse was down 10 1/4 at 150; Radio down 8 points at 42 for 50.00 shares.

Fox Film A opened at 71 1/2, down 9 1/2 points. United States Steel was down 5 1/4 at 185; American Can down 5 3/4 at 130; Pennsylvania Railroad down 5 3/4 at 89.

MURDER SCENTED IN DEATH OF PAINTER

DOVER, O., Nov. 4.—Casting aside the theory of an auto accident, police and county authorities are working on a murder angle in connection with the finding of the body of Albert J. Bates, 61, a Strasburg, O., painter, lying along the highway outside of this city Sunday.

The finding of wounds on the chest lead authorities to believe that they were inflicted by a dagger, according to Sheriff Harry C. Smith, and Coroner J. F. Lewis.

Two companions of the dead man were questioned this morning but they asserted they left him in front of a residence in the colored section of Dover. His subsequent movements are unknown.

There was no money found in his pockets and his watch and chain were missing. In addition to the slashes on the victim's chest, his skull was crushed. The left side of his face was slashed and his jaws were broken. A deep puncture wound was found in his right knee.

KING GEORGE BACK FROM HUNTING TRIP

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Vastly improved in health, King George arrived in London at 12:20 p. m. today from Sandringham Castle, Norfolk, where he had spent the last few weeks shooting and hunting.

The king was accompanied by Queen Mary and little Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York.

The New York Stock Exchange will close at 1 o'clock Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and will be closed all day Saturday. This announcement was made by the board of governors just before the opening market today. There will be no session of the exchange tomorrow—election day.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Higher prices were quoted for American stocks on the London Exchange today. U. S. Steel sold at 197 1/2; Radio at 55; Columbia Graphophone 31 1/2; Canadian Pacific at 221, and International Nickel 44.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—Stocks opened fractionally higher on the Cleveland exchange today and the market was somewhat firmer as compared with Thursday's close. Trading at the opening was exceptionally active, which according to exchange officials, was the result of a three-day accumulation of orders.

EXPECT SMALL VOTE ON TAX AMENDMENT

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—That a relatively light vote will be cast throughout Ohio tomorrow, on the proposed tax classification amendment to the Ohio constitution, is the forecast voiced here today by state election officials.

A majority vote will insure adoption of the proposal. If adopted, the amendment will abolish the uniform rule of taxation, as now applicable to both tangible and intangible property, and will substitute a modified form of classification of property for taxation purposes, with a 15-mill limitation on real estate.

While the taxation proposal is the only statewide issue confronting Ohio voters at this off-year election, proposed bond and local tax issues will be disposed of in various localities throughout the state. Local officials will be elected in nine or two Ohio cities, 750 villages, 1,300 townships and 2,000 school districts. Local officers to be elected include councilmen, school board members, municipal judges, city auditor and city attorney, or law director.

TAMMANY PREDICTS 550,000 PLURALITY FOR JIMMY WALKER

Hot Mayoralty Race Marked By Personal Charges

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—With the booming of heavy political guns and last minute warnings of "double crossing" and "diabolical plots," the mayoralty campaign in New York City drew to a discordant close today.

Tomorrow the voters go to the polls and settle the question: "Will Mayor James J. Walker be re-elected?" Tammany, which is backing the debonair "Jimmy," says "Yes, by 550,000 plurality."

Opposed to Walker in the mayoralty battle are:

Fiorillo H. La Guardia, Republican-Fusion.
Richard E. Enright, Square Deal party candidate.

Norman Thomas, Socialist.
The Republican-Fusion managers claim victory for La Guardia by 200,000 votes. Enright, former police commissioner, has made no predictions as to the outcome. Thomas' manager declares the Socialist candidate will receive at least 20 per cent of the total vote, or between 200,000 and 250,000 votes. He said Thomas would run ahead of La Guardia by 50,000 or 100,000 votes.

Betting odds on Walker lengthened from 10 to 1 to 15 to 1 in the last two days. New York City is normally Democratic. "Jimmy" is personally popular, has the support of the powerful Tammany organization and has been helped from the political platform by the personal appearance of former Governor "Al" Smith.

The campaign is closing with a banz after a dull interlude. The Republicans today let it be known they are preparing for a Tammany "reign of terror" at the polls tomorrow. They profess to anticipate "strong-arm tactics" to prevent "bolters" from voting for La Guardia. On the other hand, Walker hints at a "diabolical plot." He fears the Republicans are going to "spring" at the last minute—"too late to answer."

La Guardia and Enright have been lambasting the mayor for weeks, particularly for failure of the Walker administration to solve the murder of Arnold Rothstein, the gambler who was mysteriously shot in a hotel here a year ago tonight. Many sinister charges were made in this connection.

Thomas, meanwhile, conducted his campaign on a high plane, avoiding personalities.

Mayor Walker maintained a dignified and scornful silence in the face of these allegations until recently. His opponents brought him rushing pell mell into the political ring when they accused him of being a Broadway "playboy." This charge the mayor indignantly refuted, asserting he had been in night clubs only three times in the last few years. He also took umbrage at statements that he was a "clothes dummy." The dressy young mayor retorted he would risk himself up in overalls if he thought he could better serve his constituents.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Three Boston mayoralty candidates today went down the "home stretch" toward election day tomorrow.

All supporters of ex-Mayor James M. Curley said he would carry every one of the twenty-two wards and would win by close to 70,000 votes. Frederick W. Mansfield, president of the Massachusetts Bar Association, expressed his confidence in victory as did District Attorney Daniel H. Coakley.

LABOR FEDERATION SUPPORTS STRIKE

POLICE SHAKE-UP THREATENED AS BOMBING CASES CONTINUE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4.—A new bomb explosion today increased the vigil of police who have been given the alternative of keeping down flares of violence in the long New Orleans strike or losing their jobs.

A car on Desire Street was dynamited this morning. No one was hurt, although the vehicle was damaged to the extent of $500. The explosion followed a rather quiet week end.

NAVAL OFFICER WHO DISAPPEARED LAST OCTOBER 22 FOUND

Surrenders After Fleeing With Cash And Woman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The mysterious disappearance of Lieut. Harold W. Northcutt from his station at Portsmouth, Va., since Oct. 22, was partially cleared today when he was located at the Bremerton, Wash., navy yard. He was first believed to have been kidnapped or slain for $250 which he had collected for the University of Virginia.

According to advices received by the navy department, he surrendered to the authorities at Vancouver, B. C., and was then brought to the Bremerton yard, where he is being detained pending investigation.

Investigation by department of justice agents revealed Northcutt disappeared with a woman from Canada or had gone there to meet her. Letters showed that the young naval officer had been urged by the woman to leave his wife and family and marry her.

The lieutenant's wife and child are with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. C. Bryant here. Bryant, a Washington newspaper man, said he knew of no reason for Northcutt's action.

"Nothing ever surprised me or my family more," he said. "Lieutenant Northcutt did not drink, was devoted to his wife and little boy, and did not owe any debt he could not have paid."

POLICEMAN CLAIMS VICE IS PROTECTED

CANTON, O., Nov. 4.—Another match was touched to Canton's political bonfire here today with the allegations of Patrolman Meritt C. Jacobs, who, speaking before a Democratic rally, declared vice is "protected" in Canton.

"Police are unable to control vice conditions because their hands are tied," Jacobs alleged. He claimed that the "higher-ups" of the city administration "protected" the underworld.

Although Jacobs was not on police duty today, it was expected he would be suspended.

OHIO PRISON GUARD SLUGGED WHEN TRIO STAGES JAIL BREAK

Convicted Slayer Perhaps Fatally Wounded By Guard

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Two convicts drilled, slugged and shot their way to freedom from the Ohio State Penitentiary here early today. A third convict, Findlay, Ohio's famous "milk-bottle" slayer, was so seriously wounded that he is expected to die.

Arthur Brooker, 23, who is serving a life-term for murder, is the wounded convict. He succeeded in getting to a railroad right-of-way, about 100 yards from the bastille, where he was found suffering from loss of blood, about four hours after his escape.

The men had smuggled three drills, a brace, and two heavy pieces of steel from the machine shop. They drilled through the top of a cell-block, which heretofore had been regarded as "escape proof."

They made no attempt to conceal their actions. When they gained the top of the cell-block, they threw a large piece of stone down into the streets outside the wall. It hit a street light and broke it.

Guard J. R. Montgomery rushed from his position at a corner tower and he was slugged, the men using a heavy piece of steel. In the fight which ensued on top of the wide prison walls and in the glare of huge searchlights, Brooker was hit by a .38 calibre "dum-dum" bullet.

The men had grabbed the shotgun of Guard Montgomery and they exchanged shots with two guards, whose posts were on the ground inside the walls.

Montgomery was beaten into unconsciousness.

AUTOISTS BEWARE OF OLD PERRY

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Nov. 4.—Distance lends enchantment and in the case of some motorists, safety. But that's out now in Perry County.

Following a hectic three months of accidents which included numerous traffic deaths due to careless, indifferent and drunken drivers, Sheriff Clifford Wilson has issued a warning to motorists that he is now following in the footsteps of the Northwest Mounted Police, who, as is probably known, "always get their man."

Sheriff Wilson's new idea is to mail his summons to those who have violated the law—if the officer gets the number—if the violator lives a thousand miles away. And get them personally if they live close by and tell them where they are to go—and for what they are appearing. So the moral of this story is be careful where and how you go in Perry County.

FALSE ARREST MADE DAMAGE SUIT BASIS

Alleged "unjust" detention of two Xenia colored youths in the detention home at Indianapolis, Ind., for several hours October 18 on suspicion of officials of the Indianapolis Colored Y. M. C. A. that the pair stole merchandise from several stores for $5,000 each, filed in the Marion County court at Indianapolis, October 22 by Robert Crowley and George R. Garrett, both of Xenia. Both youths were subsequently cleared by police of the larceny charges and were released. It is claimed. The actions were filed against the Y. M. C. A. officials.

MANY CAST VOTES

Xenians had cast a total of seventy-three absentee ballots with the Greene County Board of Elections when the deadline for voting in advance of the Tuesday general election was reached at midnight Saturday, according to R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the board. SCHOOL SHOWS PROGRESS

Sugarcreek Twp. System Now In Front Rank Of County Schools Is Shown

SUGARCREEK TWP. SCHOOL

RAY S. BLACKBURN

PROGRESS in the Sugarcreek Twp. Consolidated School at Bellbrook in the last two years has brought that school to an enviable position in the limelight of schools in Greene County, educators here declare.

Judicious application of the state school aid fund by the school administration has been responsible for bringing this condition about. It is said. The school has been spending $6,000 of state aid annually for the last two years, and the extra sum has permitted an expansion of program that has considerably raised the standards of that school.

The school was built four years ago, and during the last two years two new rooms have been added, making it one of the handsomest and most commodious buildings now in the county school system. The addition made the building a fifteen-room school, permitted an increase of staff from eight to twelve and allowed for a decrease in children per room from sixty-five to thirty-five, relieving congested conditions.

Other improvements which have been effected by the increase in school funds, include the installation of electric lights, new window blinds and new paint; the reorganization of the physical education department and a music department, which furnishes music books; construction and equipment of three tennis and three volleyball courts; supplying new uniforms for two basketball teams; reorganization of the high school on the "six-six" plan so that seventh and eighth graders receive instruction from high school teachers; purchase of several hundred dollars worth of books for the library; installation of $200 worth of lockers; purchase of a $300 picture projection machine; purchase of $300 worth of power machinery and tools for the manual training department; purchase of $120 worth of drawing equipment; purchase of three sets of readers for each grade at a total cost of $1,000; purchase of $500 worth of science equipment; purchase of $400 worth of sewing machines and home economics department equipment; purchase of $1,000 worth of typewriters and stenographic equipment for the commercial department.

The two room addition to the building is valued at $4,500. It is said. Reorganization of the department of physical education has enabled the school to bring two county basketball championships there in the last two years. The board of education, the Welfare Club and the community at large have co-operated in the improvements. It is pointed out.

The board is composed of Joseph White, Samuel O. Miller, Frank A. Wright, John Turner and Lampton Smith. White, Miller and Wright, who is also clerk of the board, are candidates for re-election Tuesday. Ray S. Blackburn is superintendent of the school and Frank Multhup, who has held the position thirty-two years, is janitor. The enrollment is approximately 350.

been made from bed clothing, was dropped to the outside and the men dropped down this to freedom.

Guy Tennent, 32, of Cuyahoga County and Will Miller, 20, of Lawrence County, are the two convicts who escaped and were at large at 8:30 o'clock this morning. Tennent was serving from 10 to 25 years for robbery, having been admitted to the pen July 1, 1925. Miller was serving a like term, which he began June 24, 1928.

Another convict, the cellmate of the trio, refused to participate in the break. He is John Kelly, of Meigs County, who is serving a seven to 15-year term for burglary. Kelly escaped from the Junction City brick plant on December 14, 1928, but he was returned to the institution on August 9. He apparently did not wish to take a chance. True to the prisoners' "code," he refused to talk to prison officials today.

The escape was apparently well-planned. After sawing their way from the cell block, the men scaled the wall, where Guard Montgomery was posted. They beat him into unconsciousness with some blunt instrument and left him lying for dead. Several stitches were required to close his wounds and he did not regain consciousness for several hours.

The fleeing convicts grabbed the guard's shotgun and exchanged shots with other guards as they dropped over the wall to freedom.

A long rope, which apparently had been made from mattress covering and bedding, was found hanging down the wall.

The flight and subsequent escape is located.

It had a stage setting. The huge searchlights which light up the walls were playing on the guard and men as they struggled atop the walls.

Warden P. E. Thomas, whose residence is in the penitentiary, was awakened by the shot and subsequent alarm. He was on the scene in a few minutes and directed the search which was immediately begun.

A riot call was sent in to local police and every road leading from the city is under guard. Railroads have been notified and their detectives are on the lookout.

FINDLAY, O., Nov. 4.—Arthur Brooker, who was shot and seriously wounded at the Ohio State Penitentiary in Columbus today during a jail delivery, started his twelve-year career of crime when he was only 19 years of age.

He was then taken into custody by juvenile authorities for alleged stealing bicycles.

As he grew older, authorities, here declared, he stole chickens and rabbits.

This finally led to the theft of automobiles and a career of robbery.

Samuel J. McMichael was found slain in his small store on January 13, 1928. He had been beaten to death by a gasoline pump handle and milk bottles, mostly the latter, according to the pieces of broken glass which were found strewn around the scene of the murder. A month before that, McMichael's store had been entered, $21 in loot being taken.

Brooker was arrested for stealing corn and oats from a farmer on April 29, 1928.

After he was arrested and questioned, he boasted that he would tell them "about my big job." He then confessed to the famous "milk bottle" slaying of McMichael.

He implicated his half brother, a subsequent trial, but the jury recommended mercy.

The two brothers were admitted to the penitentiary June 11, 1928. Brooker at that time was only 22 years of age.

GRAIN THE BASE IN POULTRY RATION

Grain, especially corn, which is Ohio's cheapest and most common cereal, should be the base upon which a grain and mash ration for poultry is arranged, according to C. M. Ferguson, extension specialist in poultry husbandry for the Ohio State University here.

Ferguson points out that the grain is the principal home grown component of the ration, and therefore the cheapest, and the element which should regulate the composition of the mash. Wheat, when the price is not prohibitive, is next in desirability to corn. Oats, barley, buckwheat and other coarse cereals should not make up more than 30 per cent of the scratch feed," says Ferguson.

The specialists recommend the feeding of grain twice a day—early morning and late afternoon, either in a clean litter or in troughs. As a general rule the chickens should receive as much grain as mash. The common practice is to feed grain lightly in the morning and to give the chickens all they can eat in the evening.

"Heavy grain feeding to pullets in the late fall and early winter has been found advisable in order to maintain body weight as egg production commences," says Ferguson.

Only one state-wide issue, that of the proposed tax classification amendment, will claim the attention of Greene County voters when they visit the polls Tuesday.

In the last forty years the question of doing away with the present uniform rule of taxation has come before the voters ten times and was defeated each time. It received a majority of the votes cast on the issue five times, but not a majority of all votes cast at the election.

This time, however, only a majority of votes on the proposal itself will be necessary for it to carry. If passed, the amendment will abolish the uniform rule of taxation on both tangible and intangible property, and will place a fifteen-mill limitation on real estate.

PROPOSERS of the amendment claim that if it is adopted, the legislature will fix low rates on money, stocks and bonds and similar intangibles, in the hope of bringing out the millions which are not now listed, owners hiding these because of the present high rate. Advocates of the classification idea contend that the increase in the amount of intangibles listed under the proposed low rate will be much greater than at present and that the income from the aggregate will be much more than offset the reduction of the present fifteen-mill rate.

OPPONENTS of the tax amendment declare, however, that the step will permit an unchecked amount of bond issues and extra levies, since the proposed fifteen-mill limitation may be exceeded by a vote of the people. They also claim the intangibles now escaping taxation will continue to stay in hiding, declaring the "halfhearted" low rate will bring out unlisted intangibles in greater numbers and thereby increase the various forms of intangible property in fixing a new tax rate is also cited as an evil by opponents of the amendment.

OTTAWA, Ill., Nov. 4.—Jim Kelly has been pushed out of a job he held for sixty-one years. The pushing process was not due to the age of Jim Kelly. It was due to the fact that wreckers began tearing down the building in which he served.

In August, 1868, a new hotel was opened in Ottawa with a great flare of trumpets. Jim Kelly strayed away from his home nearby to see what it was all about and was put to work as a bell hop. Later he became night clerk. Still later he became day clerk. He wore out the building which today is in the hands of wreckers, while he remains as good as new.

One year from now there will be a new fireproof hotel on the site of the old, and after a year's vacation Jim Kelly will return to his job as day clerk.

The present enforced vacation is Kelly's second in a lifetime. Twenty years ago, when L. M. Harvey became the fifth owner of the hotel in forty years, he forced Kelly to take two weeks off.

When Kelly returned to the job a newspaper writer asked him where he had spent his vacation.

"In Davenport," said Kelly. "Resort or relatives?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, I just stayed at a hotel, went to the circus one day and to the baseball games."

"Rotten vacation," said the reporter.

"I know, I know," said Kelly. "But to be a success at anything you must have experience, and that was my first vacation. I'll try and do better next time."

DEFINES POWERS OF AIR DIRECTOR

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—The powers and duties of the state director of aeronautics, relative to the creation of a division of air-marking in the director's department, are defined in an opinion which was given by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman to Attorney John M. Vorys, Columbus, director of aeronautics.

Holding that the director is empowered to set up such a division in his department, the attorney general ruled that the director possesses legal authority to require air-marking to be performed and maintained in cases where a municipality fails to provide markers or, providing such markers, neglects to maintain them.

In such instances, the cost is to be charged to the municipality, such cost not to exceed $25 for each municipality, and collected by the state department of aeronautics. This money, however, must be turned by the director into the state treasury. It cannot be used for compensating a chief of a division of air-marking, Bettman held.

The attorney general also ruled that the contracts for painting markers in municipalities, where the local authorities failed to take proper action, should be let by competitive bidding, unless the state controlling board authorizes that the work be arranged for in some other manner.

President, succeeding the Rev. W. H. Tifford, the Rev. L. A. Washburn, of Trinity M. E. Church, vice-president; the Rev. W. W. Foust, of the First Reformed Church, secretary and treasurer.

The organization voted to abandon the present group method of union services and resume union services including all the churches every Sunday evening beginning next Sunday. Arrangements were left in charge of the executive committee.

Plans were also discussed for a week of prayer to be held in January and it was again decided to distribute Gospels at Christmas time, through the different churches. Last year the association gave away 5,100 of these Gospels.

The association agreed to hold the annual Thanksgiving Day union services on the Wednesday eve of Thanksgiving Day this year instead of Thursday morning as formerly. The services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Joel R. Lunsford, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will preach.

Dr. J. N. Strain, financial officer of Cedarville College, was a visitor at the association meeting Monday.

Precipitation occurred on only ten days in October, according to the monthly summary of John S. Hazen, new Dayton weather observer who recently succeeded W. W. Neifert.

Total precipitation amounted to 3.64 inches, an excess of 1.96 inches as compared with the normal, making an accumulated excess of 7.90 inches since January 1. The average temperature in October was 53 degrees, a deficiency of 1.9 degrees under normal or an accumulated deficiency of 197 degrees since January 1.

There were ten clear days, five partly cloudy, sixteen cloudy and there were 161.2 hours of sunshine or a percentage of 47. Thunderstorms, frosts and dense fogs were included in the miscellaneous weather phenomena of the month.

Vern L. Faires made an unusual good showing in the weekly guessing contest conducted by this column last week end. Faires had fifteen winners, only six losers and one tie out of twenty-two predictions on collegiate football games, a record which, in this season of upsets, is exceptionally good. The percentage of local fans was raised to .697 based on a total of seventy-eight winners and thirty-four losers. Vern had these winners:

Cornell 12, Columbia 6.
Ohio Wesleyan 41, Denison 0.
Notre Dame 26, Georgia Tech 6.
Harvard 14, Florida 0.
Brown 15, Holy Cross 14.
Minnesota 19, Indiana 7.
Ohio University 14, Miami 0.
Pennsylvania 7, Navy 2.
Pittsburgh 18, Ohio State 2.
Penn State 6, Syracuse 4.
Army 23, South Dakota 6.
Wash. and Jeff. 20, Lafayette 0.
Purdue 13, Wisconsin 0.
Wittenberg 13, Cincinnati 7.
Yale 16, Dartmouth 12.
These predictions went astray:
Georgetown 14, New York U. 0.
Northwestern 7, Illinois 0.
Chicago 15, Princeton 7.
California 15, S. California 7.
West Reserve 18, St. Xavier 6.
Wooster 27, Oberlin 0.
This game ended in a tie:
Detroit 6, Marquette 6.

The third installment of the debate between "Sport Fan" and "A Booster" follows:

Dear Frame:
If these letters keep up you will have to transfer your column from the sport page over to the comic page.

My attention is directed to a letter signed "A Booster" and after reading the letter and glancing only casually at the signature, I thought it was signed "A Rooster." Is that a laugh?

Booster has evidently got himself red up from misreading my letter. The first paragraph of that letter said: "The high school's defeat by Miamiburg Saturday afternoon is a reflection upon the caliber of the student body here."

Student body in this case, was intended to refer to the school as a body. Booster's letter indicates that he thought I was criticizing the football team. He's wrong. Any team of youngsters that will get out there and fight for every game, deserves credit no matter how bad it is. My criticism was that the bigger student body should produce more and bigger football candidates.

Wilson proved last year he's as good a coach as any when he has something to work with. A coach can't train a team in anything except theory unless he has a scrub team to scrimmage against. Wilson hasn't had a scrub team because there aren't enough candidates out. It proves that the student body lacks the proper spirit or there would be lots of boys out there practicing every night, not because they expect to make the team but because they will help make the team a good team. My further criticism was that the team is composed of little fellows while plenty of big fellows stand on the sidelines and watch. This is to the credit of the courage of these little fellows, but what about those big boys that should be out there trying? My comparison with other years was for the purpose of showing that there might have been some excuse for lack of interest when facilities were bad and coaching was poor, but that in these days of first-class facilities and proper supervision and training, this excuse does not obtain. The youngsters who are playing and trying their best to win now, do not deserve criticism. The fact that if the team was a winning one there would be plenty of reserve material, proves that the rest of the student body hasn't the proper spirit. The lads who are "giving the team a kick" now, as Booster puts it, are the fellows who should be out practicing every night but who folded up their wings when they found they couldn't make the first team and that it was a losing outfit anyway.

RUNNING ATTACK IS TOO MUCH FOOTBALL FOR SOUTHERN TEAM

Bulldogs Run Wild Late In Contest On Saturday

marking the second game played on the new Wilberforce athletic field.

In Thornhill the "Bulldogs" also uncovered a superior ball carrier and a fine field general, ending Coach Graves' quest for a quarterback who can be counted on for substantial yardage as well as direct the team in a capable manner.

Thornhill gained more ground than any other Wilberforce back and was also on the receiving end of four forward passes hurled by Ashe.

The opening quarter, playing in the rain, ended scoreless, but Wilberforce gridders marked up a touchdown in each of the second and third quarters and crossed the goal line three in the final period.

Wilberforce second-stringers started the game, defending the north goal. Baker kicked off to Terry, who was downed in mid-field. On the first play Terry picked up ten yards. Line smashes for eight, ten and twelve yards by Wilberforce's "pony" backfield brought the pigskin within three yards of Clark's goal on fourth down. At this point the regular backs were inserted into the game but Clark held for downs and Baker kicked to his own forty.

Line thrusts by C. Lucas and Thornhill gained consistently but penalties for Wilberforce back repeatedly and lost most of the ground the backs gained. Clark's efforts to advance the ball on offense were futile during the opening quarter because of the tight defense of the Bulldogs.

Wilberforce broke the ice in the second period when Tynes heaved a thirty-yard pass to C. Lucas, who ran twenty more yards for a touchdown. Ashe failed in the goal attempt.

A mixed team of regulars and reserves represented Wilberforce as the second half opened and the weather cleared up. Clark's passing attack, which had heretofore failed the visitors was responsible for the Atlanta eleven's lone touchdown in the third period when Dalton snagged a thirty-yard aerial from Baker. The extra point was added making the score 7 to 6.

Then Wilberforce found itself and a fumble by Baker recovered on Clark's three-yard line gave the Bulldogs the needed break. Shortly afterward Tynes bucked over for a touchdown.

The fourth quarter was only two minutes old when C. Lucas sprinted forty-five yards for the third Wilberforce touchdown and added the point on a pass. Later Duke fumbled for Clark behind his own goal line and Terrell fell on the ball for a safety, adding two points to the Wilberforce score. Subsequently the Force registered two more touchdowns in rapid order, one when a Clark yard line and the other when Thornhill passed to Terry, who galloped fifty yards for the last margin.

The superior line play of Nixon at tackle and Clark at guard made the running attack of Ashe, C. Lucas and Thornhill possible and contributed in a large measure to the one-sided victory.

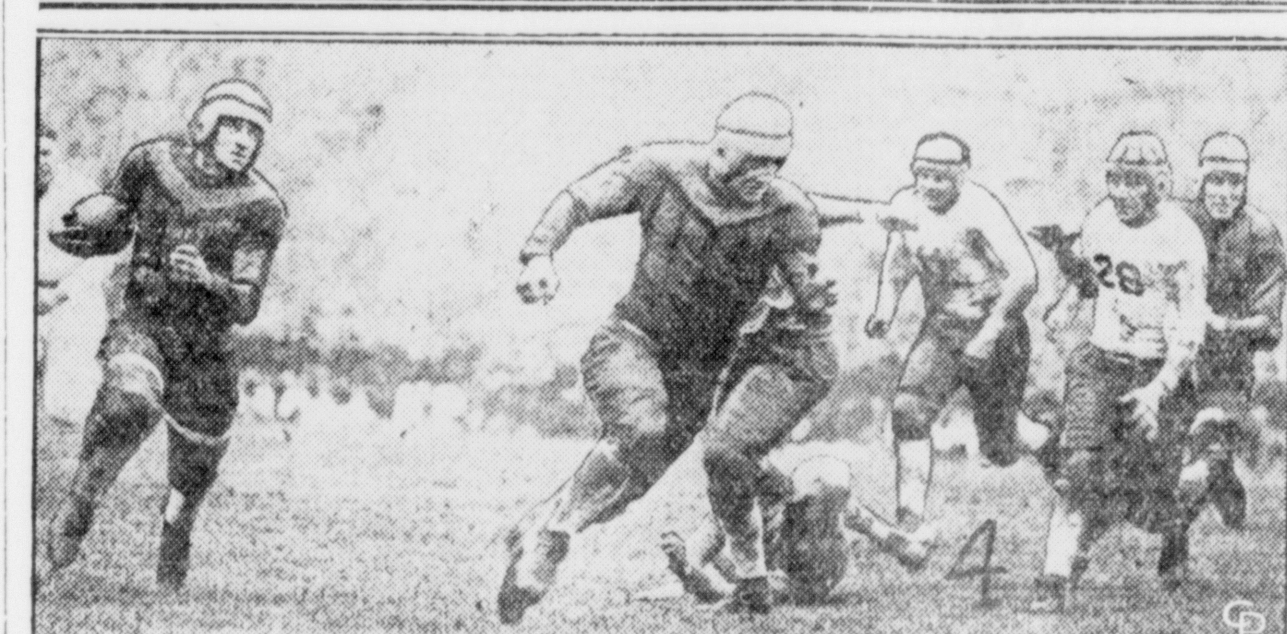

Wilberforce next plays Howard University, a rival of long standing, in another intercollegiate contest at Washington D. C. Saturday afternoon. Summary:

BUCKEYES LOSE AND IRISH WIN SATURDAY

Top picture shows Toby Unasa, University of Pittsburgh star half back, as he skirted Ohio State's left end for eleven yards in the game in which the Panthers defeated the Buckeyes 18 to 2 before 60,000 people at Pittsburgh. Unasa scored two touchdowns in what was Pitt's sixth straight victory. Lower photo shows Notre Dame averaging a last year defeat by Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

The picture was snapped as Mullins, Irish fullback, circled Tech's left end. Stumpy Thomason is attempting to make the tackle. The Irish won by a 26 to 6 score before a crowd of 39,000 fans.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Peace reigned again today along the embattled "front" of intercollegiate football but, as the peace of Versailles made a laundry ticket; out of the map of Europe, so did this armistice make for altered values and proportions at sharp variance with those that had been held previous to Saturday. Dartmouth, for one thing, no longer was one of the right-of-might teams of the East. Southern California, for another, did not rule the coast, as before. Missouri was off the top perch in the Big Six; Illinois practically was eliminated from further defense of its big ten title; much the same thing had happened to Alabama down South and Colorado College no longer was a front rank contender in the Rocky Mountain lists.

Briefly, of all the important developments of Saturday, these were the most far-reaching:

California, supposed to be subnormal, beat Southern California, supposed to be great, by 15 to 7; Dartmouth, recognized as one of the best, lost to Yale, 16 to 12, on an intercepted forward pass that never should have been thrown; Kansas Aggies intercepted another of these and probably beat Missouri out of all chance for the Big Six championship; 7 to 6, Southern Methodist and Texas played a scoreless tie, leaving the south-west without a nominal leader; Northwestern took the play away from Illinois from the opening whistle and won by the margin of a touchdown; Marquette outplayed the supposedly fool-proof Detroit outfit but got no better than a 6 to 6 tie and Colorado College lost to the Aggies, leaving the University of Utah in full charge of the Rocky Mountain section.

Notre Dame's 26 to 6 victory over Georgia Tech down in Atlanta would have headed this list except for one thing: It isn't important when Notre Dame wins; only when it loses. This ball team is going through the fanciest schedule of years as though they were playing Upsilon, Ypsilon, Wofford and St. Viator. They must be a little better than the best or else the rest of them are far from good.

Notre Dame, of course, has a chattel mortgage on middle Western supremacy with only the Big Ten leaders, Minnesota and Purdue, left to argue about it. This trio remained undefeated over the week end, the Gophers again looking like a real ball club against Indiana and Purdue beating Wisconsin by two touchdowns. Ohio State still has a figurative chance in the conference but its 18 to 2 defeat by Pittsburgh made the Buckeyes look more plausible for the rest of the schedule.

However, Pitt was so good that it can beat them all. It stands alone as the Eastern leader, barring minor contention from Boston College, Fordham, Villanova, W. and J., Western Maryland and Davis-Ellis also undefeated but hardly qualifying for number one ranking. Cornell, in fact, is Pitt's real threat, the Rhacans having maintained a clear title by beating Columbia. They almost had to take a micrometer to stave off a last-minute touchdown that either would have tied or beaten Cornell, however.

On the coast, California is the new king. It virtually beat the Trojans in the first half by Loni's 50-yard run from punt formation and apparently earned the decision. The Bears now can win the title by winning from Stanford. If they don't, it will end in a triangular tie. At that St. Mary's playing played a scoreless tie with California, still has the arguing concession out that way, strictly on a sectional basis.

In the South, Tennessee and Tulane continued to dominate the conference, although Vanderbilt remained undefeated. Vandy's defeat of Alabama while Tech was losing to Notre Dame and Florida to Harvard made the South look none too good, by the way. This chain of circumstances added to the prestige of the East, Middle West and Big Ten, since Vandy previously had been beaten by Minnesota. However, Tennessee, which beat Auburn easily, and Tulane, which did much the same with Georgia on Friday, still were asking no favors from anybody.

Missouri's split-second defeat by the Aggies, coupled with Nebraska's come back in the second period to win convincingly from Kansas, left the Huskers racing toward a championship in the big six. However, they haven't posted the numbers on that one yet.

Dartmouth may still come back in the East, many holding that Yale simply was lucky. This is falling to give due credit to a team that outplayed its rival for 2 1/2 periods, although it must be admitted that Dartmouth's fatal pass was a sap play with the game won and five minutes to go. There was no excuse necessary for Princeton, however. Chicago and Van Nice simply were too much for the Tiger, who is having a very mauling year of it. Nor did Pennsylvania have to apologize for beating the Navy. It won that game on its merits as much as did California, Northwestern, Vanderbilt and Penn State against U. S. C., Illinois, Alabama and Syracuse respectively, the Orange being beaten 6 to 4.

His touchdown and successful place kick for the extra point in the Indiana game Saturday increased his margin.

Berghorn, Northwestern's fullback, is second with thirty-two points and Glasgow of Iowa is third with twenty-eight points.

JESSE B. YARNELL

MIAMISBURG EARNS TIE WITH SIDNEY; STANDING THE SAME

Piqua Wins Non-Loop Game While Troy Accepts Defeat

With Piqua and Troy, co-leaders of the league, playing non-league games Saturday, the standing of the Miami Valley League remains unchanged.

The first tie in the league this season was marked up, however, when the Sidney-Miamisburg battle on the former's gridiron Saturday ended at 7 to 7. Sidney was the first to score, counting a touchdown in the second period when Fullback Cromer circled end for a twenty-yard run. Douglas placed the extra point. Hipert scored the Burger touchdown in the third quarter on a line plunge and the extra point, tying the score, was added when a fake place kick ended in a line plunge.

Troy High reserves defeated Sidney's second team 7 to 6 preceding the league tilt.

In the other league game Greenville defeated Xenia Central Friday, 6 to 0.

Piqua, playing a non-league game with Lima South, surprised with a 20 to 6 victory while Troy High dropped into the defeat column for the first time this season when it was beaten by a heavy Dayton Fairmont eleven, 13 to 0, the two touchdowns coming in the last period.

Two league games are carded for this week, Xenia invading Troy Thursday, and Miamisburg visiting Piqua Saturday. League standing:

Team	Won	Lost	Tie	Pct.	P.	O.P.
Piqua	3	0	0	1.000	77	6
Troy	3	0	0	1.000	28	6
Miam'g	1	1	1	.500	32	20
Greenville	1	2	0	.333	12	49
Sidney	0	2	1	.000	7	16
Xenia	0	3	0	.000	6	65

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 4.—Head Coach Mal Stevens has announced that none of the players who saw service in Saturday's battle with Dartmouth will be in uniform today, but that sharp scrimmages are scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday.

Despite rumors to the contrary, Yale came through the Green game with only slight injury to the squad.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 4.—Bitterly disappointed over its failure to defeat Princeton and Penn. Navy today began a drive which it hopes will bring the season to a successful close.

The Middles finished the Penn game without an injury and expects to be stronger against Georgetown this week than in any previous game of the season.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 3.—With only Tritt Bennett, halfback, on the sidelines, Princeton today began work for Lehigh. Bennett was injured in the Chicago game and the extent of his injuries has not yet been revealed.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 4.—Encouraged by its win over a strong Florida eleven, Harvard today began its three-day drive in preparation for Michigan on Saturday. Especially pleasing to the coaches was the improved play of the crimson line.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The New York University eleven received a blow today when it became known that Charley Marshall, regular right end, would be out for the remainder of the season. Marshall sustained a fractured ankle in Saturday's tilt with Georgetown.

EAST HIGH GRIDDERS LOSE TO COVINGTON HIGH ON SATURDAY

For the second time this season East High School's football team dropped a gridiron contest to William Grant High School, of Covington, Ky. The Xenia eleven losing to the invaders, 16 to 0 in a return game played on a muddy gridiron at Cox Athletic Field early Saturday afternoon.

The final score was almost identical with that of the first game between the two teams, played earlier in the season at Covington, which ended, 18 to 0 in Covington's favor.

Because of the soggy turf both teams employed straight football for the most part. East held the visiting eleven on even terms in the first quarter, which was scoreless, but Covington registered a touchdown in the second quarter and another in the third. A safety in the fourth period gave Covington footballers two more points.

The contest was started at about 12:30 o'clock and was over in time for the players to assume the role of spectators at the intercollegiate clash between Wilberforce University and Clark University, of Atlanta, Ga., later the same afternoon at Wilberforce.

East High has a tentative game at Louisville, Ky., on Armistice Day, November 11.

GRAVE OF PIONEER CRUMBLES AS AGE DEMANDS ITS TOLL

LIMA, O., Nov. 4.—Beneath a crumbling tombstone and in a graveyard long since disused, lies the body of Major General William J. Blackburn, illustrious pioneer and member of the Ohio legislature for eighteen years. The grave is slowly disappearing within the bowels of the earth.

Seventy-one years ago his body was gently lowered into its last earthly resting place. The funeral was attended by military officials. It was an impressive ceremony which included full military honors and the sounding of that unforgettable piece of music which is every soldier's heritage, "taps."

The brass plate which bore the general's citations of military exploits and which was affixed to the tombstone has been removed and the stone shows evidence of having been used as a marker for target practice. The brass marker is gone.

In Maryland, on June 25, 1787, General Blackburn was born and while still a young boy his parents moved to Columbiana County, Ohio.

When he was only 26 years old, Blackburn, recruited a company of volunteers and marched to the frontier where he took part in the campaign which preceded the surrender of General Hull, in the year of 1813.

He journeyed to Maumee where he helped to construct Fort Meigs, on the Maumee River, near what is now Toledo, immediately following the battles of Frenchtown and Raisin River.

General Blackburn was elected to the state legislature from Columbiana County in 1817, an office which he held by re-election until he resigned in 1835 to take over the United States Land office at Wapakoneta.

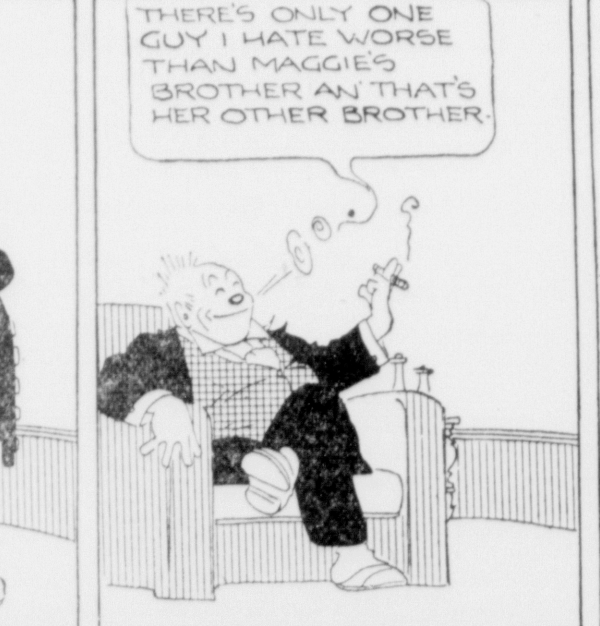

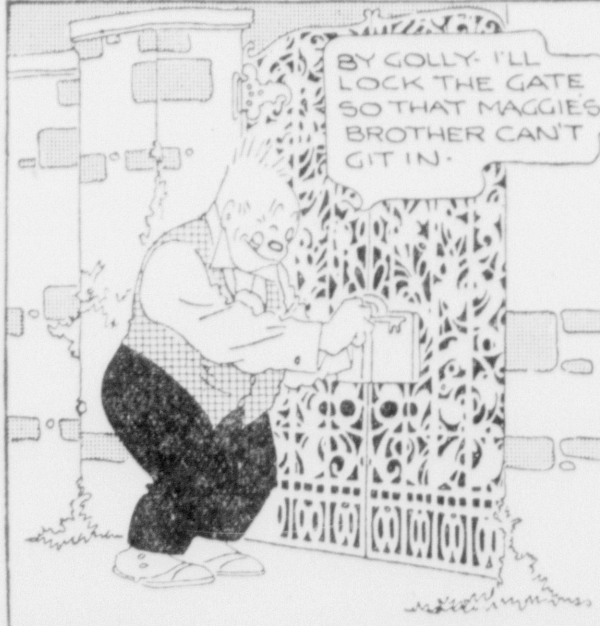

He moved the office to Lima, and served there until it was later moved to Upper Sandusky, in 1843. Land in Northwest Ohio, at that time sold for fifty cents to $1.50 an acre. Nothing except coins gold or silver, were accepted as payment and when the amount had grown considerable from the land sales he would pack the money in salt barrels and transport it to Columbus. Oxen were generally used for transportation. Though they were not so fast they were much more dependable.

General Blackburn, removed from Lima to Allentown eventually where he enjoyed a quiet life until he died on May 7, 1858.

MAN FOUND ALONG ROAD NEEDED FOOD

Found lying along the Springfield-Xenia Pike near Goes in an exhausted condition Sunday afternoon, a man who gave his name as Elmer Sackett, 40, Youngstown, O., is being held in the County Jail until his condition improves. Sackett was brought to Espey Hospital by Sheriff Ohmer Tate and L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, for an examination. Dr. Paul D. Espey diagnosed his condition as being due to lack of food and not to heart trouble, as Sackett told authorities. He was given meals at the jail and his condition was somewhat improved Monday.

COTTON STOCKINGS

ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

Author of "THE FLAT TIRE"

Copyright, 1929, by Central Press Association, Inc.

READ THIS FIRST:

Rosalie March, seventeen, after the death of her mother, secures a position at the hosiery counter in a Philadelphia store through the kindness of Kessie Du Barry, an actress. She is adored by her landlady, Mother Murphy, and little Tim O'Hara, corner newsboy. Her first day at the store she wears a pair of cotton stockings because she finds a "run" in her old pair of silk ones. After the girls at the store make fun of her, Rosalie, in desperation, takes a pair of silk stockings from the stock, promising herself to make good for them pay day. In her confusion, leaving the store, she drops the hose, and is observed by Alberto Martino, the store detective, who does not detain her, but says he will see her later.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

Martino leaned toward her and grinned. It was the most evil grin she had ever seen.

"Oh, I can explain for you. You are a poor, defenseless little orphan just in from Hoboken, who lost her entire family in the Russian revolution. They were all killed before your very eyes. You fought your way out of Russia all covered with blood and ragged clothes and came in the steerage to America. Oh, it's a sad tale, I tell you."

"A kind woman gave you a dress and a hat, but you didn't have no stockings. So you took 'em and was going to pay for 'em all Sat'day. It's the first time you ever hooked even a flower from a posy vine and you come from a long line of aristocratic ancestors—maybe you're a duchess—"

Rosalie stopped him with a sob. "But you see, sister, I ain't got in for the awful truth like that. I don't give a damn where you come from or who you are. I come to talk business with you. I'm a business man. Are you ready to listen to a little proposition now?"

He handed the stockings back to her and she laid them on the bed and nodded helplessly.

"I did take the stockings. You won't believe me, no matter how I explain. But you can't force me to do anything worse. I—"

He pulled his chair up closer and she could feel his breath on her face when he asked her very low:

"Ever done time, sister?"

When she did not understand he asked again:

"Ever been to jail?"

Her eyes grew round with horror and she covered them with her hands.

"No! No! You wouldn't—you couldn't do—that."

He laughed again and sat back—waiting.

A little later she asked him feebly:

"What—do you want me to do?"

"Ah, now we're getting down to biz, sister. I thought you'd listen if I put it clear." He watched her stricken face with keen relish for a minute, then smiled again from the corner of his mouth.

"The pore duchess thinks she is going to have to fight for her honor, doesn't she? That would just be a real movin' picture, wouldn't it?"

Rosalie waited, helplessly.

"I'm going to give you the biggest shock of your life, sister. I wouldn't give two hoots in hell for a wagonload of dimpled babies like you. Not for the reason you were worried about."

"I got the swell mamma you ever laid your lumps on. She's dry behind the ears, too. I never went in for babies. They fall in love with you and you got to break their leg and shoot 'em when you want to take another one on."

A wave of relief passed over Rosalie. Maybe after all he was only trying to scare her.

"Oh—I—I'm glad it's not—not anything worse than what you want me to do," she looked at him then trustingly. "I—I guess I misunderstood you."

He seemed a little perplexed.

The kid did not look as though she might not know enough about things to come in out of the rain. Something in her childishly relieved smile stirred him to study her closely.

She looked as though butter wouldn't melt in her mouth. But after all she had stolen the stockings—and that took plenty of nerve. Ah, heck! They all looked like that—at first. So much the better. That's why the nitwits fell for their game.

He leaned toward her again and Rosalie drew back a little.

"Don't be afraid of me, sister," he put on his most benevolent expression. "I wouldn't harm a hair of your head. Would I have brought you the socks if I'd come here to do you wrong?"

"Of course not, I was silly," she tried to smile bravely. "I—I was

"I gave you a pretty bad scare, didn't I, sister?"

just scared—it's the first time I ever took anything. I meant—"

"No diff what you meant, sister," he interrupted. "Pretty little legs like yours wasn't meant for anything but the very best of socks. You ought to be in the chorus."

She was shocked then.

"You mean—I ought to be one of those—chorus girls. Oh, I couldn't. My mother used to say they were all bad girls."

Martino's eyes bulged.

"Saw, are you on the level with that gaff—or are you takin' me for a ride on the merry-go-round?"

"I don't just know what you mean. But where I came from no body would think of associating with a girl who got up before a lot of men dressed like that—"

Martino's laugh rang out unbelieveably.

"Ever see a chorus girl?"

"No, I haven't. I only know one actress and she is a burlesque actress. She's different, though. If it hadn't been for her I would never have been able to come here to get a job."

Rosalie was actually beginning to confide in him.

Martino realized then that he was on the wrong track. He must not make her afraid of him. He must handle her with care. There would be no business proposition. He would make her trust him.

If she was selling him a line she was the cleverest little moll he ever came in contact with. And that was all right, too. He'd play right back into her two white hands. He noticed then how lovely they were, clasped in her lap and thought what a find she was.

If Rosalie was so utterly ignorant of the world as she seemed to be, feeling obligated to him for giving her for her theft—and saving her from disgrace, she would be loyal and easy to handle.

He got up and put his hand on her shoulder.

"I give you a pretty bad scare, didn't I, sister? Well, that's my business. I don't like to see a kid like you startin' out wrong and getting into trouble."

She dropped her head, shamed and humble.

"Never mind, kid. It's all set now. Alberto Martino is your friend—and when he's your friend you're sittin' in clover."

The Heater

Consider the lilies of the stage, who toil not and neither spin, yet one of them, Miss Kathleen Mulqueen, Broadway star and former Philadelphia society girl, is $500,000 richer from playing the stockmarket on a "dumb" hunch.

Miss Mulqueen is 25, with blue eyes and jet black hair, and Stage-door Johnnies will find her in Louisville, Ky., where she is playing stock with the Brown Players. "I don't know how I did it," she said. "I just played a dumb hunch. I had run $15,000, my life savings, up to $65,000 in five months."

"About a week ago, I got the feeling that the market would turn so I took everything and sold short. Sure enough, stocks dropped. I said 'slide, Kelly, slide' and I got out last Tuesday just before the market climbed again. I am the world's worst business woman but I took a chance and am too amazed for adequate words. Will I go back into Wall St? Not just now. I want to count my profits. Will I quit the stage? I should say not. I am returning to New York soon and hope to start in a Broadway production shortly."

Miss Mulqueen is an ardent baseball fan. Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, gave her her first market tip last May. She and Mack are old friends and Miss Mulqueen was voted their favorite actress by the

Athletics recently. Outside of the stock market she is a conservative gambler. She won only $25 on the World Series. In her stock market plunge she put in every cent she had in the world including a mortgage on her home in Freeport, L. I.

Lillian Foster, American actress playing in London, enters the theater's hall of fame today, by having her picture appear in this column. She is so honored because she set a new style of retort to critics who write unfavorable reviews. Meeting Hanne Swaroff, British critic, in a fashionable hotel restaurant in London, she slapped his face twice. He had spoken disparagingly regarding her voice. Critics, beware!

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," the picture version made by Carl Laemmle from the great Civil War story by Harriet Beecher Stowe, is the attraction at the Orpheum Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, and deserves special mention.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," the most popular drama ever produced on the American stage, is a top-notch motion picture, made without sparing expense to make it true to history and fact. James H. Lowe, famous colored actor who made his name in "Emperor Jones," plays the part of Uncle Tom.

The rest of the cast is of the best. Margarita Fischer plays the part of "Eliza"; Arthur Edmund Carew is "George Harris"; Mona Ray is "Topsy"; George Siegmann is "Simon Legree"; Allen Mannix is "Aunt Ophelia"; Jack Mower is "Shelby"; Vivien Oak-

DEFENDS TAX LIMIT PROPOSAL AGAINST OPPONENT'S CLAIM

In defending the proposed tax limit amendment to Article XII of the Ohio Constitution, David C. Bradfute, secretary of the Greene County Farm Bureau takes sharp issue with O. A. Dobbins, president of the same organization, in speaking before the Jefferson Two, Farm Bureau at the home of K. M. Johnson, Friday, Mr. Bradfute said:

"We defend the proposed amendment on all three of the opposition's counts. It is neither misleading, unnecessary nor unfair."

"It is called a tax limit amendment because that is exactly what it is. While it is true, as has been charged; that a classification amendment has been defeated several times, yet this is the first and only time such an amendment has carried a tax limiting clause, protecting the real estate owner from excessive rates. That this amendment will permit classification we not only admit but we advance that as the chief argument in its favor. We believe that only through classification is it practically possible to relieve the present intolerable burden of taxation placed on real estate by a so-called uniform rule that in its operation is neither uniform nor fair. There is certainly nothing misleading about that."

"As to the necessity of the amendment; it has been abundantly proven, and is not denied, that real estate which constitutes only 30 per cent of the wealth of the state pays nearly 75 per cent of the taxes, while intangible property constituting more than 50 per cent of the wealth pays only 7 per cent of the taxes."

"The only possible relief under our present uniform rule, to the owner of real estate, who now bears the double burden of taxation of the land and the fictitious taxation of the mortgage thereon, is to exempt the mortgage entirely from taxation. Thus under our present system, cursed as it is with exemptions, the only remedy which the defenders of the uniform rule have to offer is to add another exemption."

"Of course any taxation of intangibles is bound to result in double taxation since nearly all intangibles are based upon, and derive their value from either real estate or other tangible property. Under the uniform rule the only possible courses open are either to fix the tax rate on these intangibles the same as that on real estate and tangible property, thus throwing a double burden on those classes of property, through increased interest rates, or else to exempt the intangibles entirely, throwing the taxation burden on the other two classes of property."

"Now as to the fairness of classification. The supreme court of the United States has repeatedly said that classification of property for taxation is fair and just in principle and that the uniform rule can never result in fair and just taxation."

"As an example of the unfairness of classification the defenders of the uniform rule point out that if the amendment is adopted the owner of real estate will be assessed for a large amount of tax while the man with an equal investment in stocks, bonds or mortgages will be assessed for only a small amount. They utterly forget that under the system they are defending that same owner of intangibles pays practically nothing."

"How anyone can first advance the argument, that mortgages, stocks, etc., should be exempt from taxation, since to tax them results in double taxation, and then claim in the same speech that all classes of property should pay the same tax, is utterly beyond my comprehension. Yet this is exactly what the supporters of the present unfair, unjust and misnamed uniform rule attempt to establish."

GOV. ROOSEVELT TO BE CANDIDATE FOR DEMIES IN 1932

ALBANY, Nov. 4.—If Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt is re-elected governor next year, his friends are convinced he will be the Democratic presidential candidate in 1932.

Plans already are being made, it is said, by which former Governor Al Smith would throw whatever strength he may have in the next Democratic national convention to Governor Roosevelt.

There are many who believed that former Governor Smith will be a dominant figure in the next Democratic national convention, not as a candidate but as a picker of candidates.

If former Governor Smith uses his influence to secure the presidential nomination for Governor Roosevelt it will be returning only a good deed for another, in the opinion of friends of Gov. Roosevelt.

Associates of the New York Executive point to the fact that for eight years, prior to the 1928 convention, Governor Roosevelt was an indefatigable worker in an effort to secure the presidential nomination for former Gov. Smith.

CONSIDER SITES FOR NEW BUILDING

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Members of the Ohio State office building commission were to meet this afternoon with Gov. Meyer Y. Cooper to try and decide on a site for Ohio's proposed new office building.

The meeting was scheduled for 2 p. m. in the office of the chief executive and was to be private.

The commission's decision is subject to the approval of the governor.

If a site is decided upon, the commission's architects will begin at once to work on plans for a building suitable for the site. It will be at least two years, it is believed, before the land can be acquired and a building made ready for occupancy.

IDENTITIES CORPSE AS SON-MISSING SON RETURNS HOME

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 4.—A son, who was believed dead, had returned to his mother today.

A body was found floating in the Ohio River on March 28. It apparently had been in the river for some time.

The body was placed in the Portsmouth, Ohio, morgue.

It remained unidentified for several days.

Reading of the instance in a paper, Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond, of Charleston, went to Portsmouth.

"That is my son, John, who is 20 years of age," she said.

Funeral preparations were made. Mrs. Hammond purchased two lots in the Greenlawn cemetery, one for the body of her son, and the second for herself. When she died, she said, she wished to be buried at his side.

The body was buried as that of John Hammond. Mrs. Hammond mourned the death of her son.

However, John Hammond walked into his mother's home here as big as life the other day.

"I'm not dead," he assured her. He said he had gone away in search of work.

Today, authorities are again faced with the task of identifying the river corpse.

PROPELLER DRIVEN AUTO SUCCESSFUL

HANOVER, Nov. 4.—A propeller-driven car has undergone successful tests on the railway-line Burgwell Cello near Hanover.

The car looks from the outside like an armored car. It is driven by two propellers, one at the back and one at the front. The motors which drive the propellers have 250 h. p. each. The speed to be reached is to approximate that of an ordinary steam engine.

The propeller-car started with passengers including several members of German Parliament and the trip proved a success.

The tests are of merely theoretical nature so far, but experts believe there are great possibilities in this new propeller-car.

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—

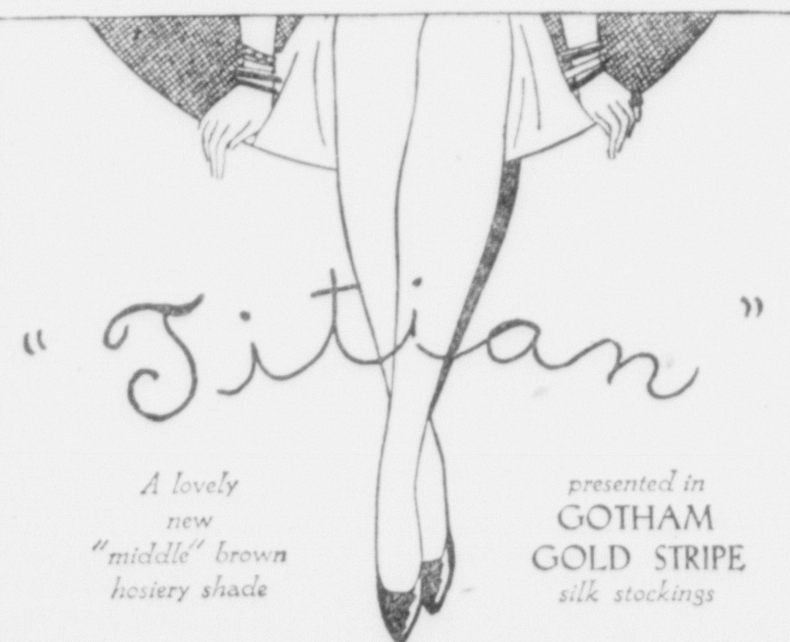

Remember Bayer Aspirin! For there is scarcely any pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Bayer Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

SHAMROCK GROWS IN AMERICAN SOIL

LORAIN, O., Nov. 4.—Skepticism which existed as to whether the shamrock, once taken from its native soil in Ireland, could be replanted and grown in America, has been dispelled at the home of Mrs. Catherine Woodley here.

Mrs. Woodley was born in County Cork, Ireland, coming to this country when she was a child. One of her childhood playmates, several years ago, mailed her a package of shamrock seed. She planted it and now the plant is quite large, and several new sprouts were observed to have popped out recently.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Thursday, October 24, the junior and senior Latin Club held an election of officers. Esther Bradley was elected president, Dorothy Lunsford, vice president, Betty Lorimer, secretary and Harold Bull, treasurer. These committees for the year were then appointed by the president: Program—Helen LeSourd, Virginia Watkins, Robert Kinsey; social—Alice Gordin, Lois Spahr, Minor Monroe;

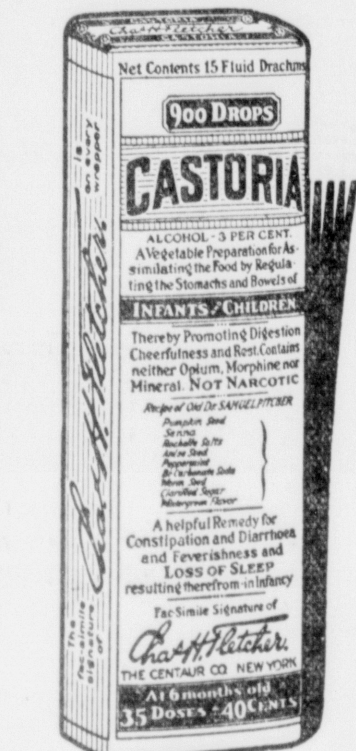

Frances Hyson, Jane Harner. It was also decided to hold all future meetings the first Monday of every school month.

The first real meeting was held Monday at which a few important business matters were brought up and discussed. Helen LeSourd then took charge of the program. Jane Harner told a fairy tale, "The Three Bears" and it was very well received. A short debate on "Why I am the Better Debater" was then carried on by Minor Monroe and Edwin Bath. Monroe was decided victor because of his previous experience and because he was so long winded. A duet entitled "Singing in the Rain" was the next thing on the program. It was sung

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.
